Doctors Say Ike To Quickly Recover

Harriman To Become Active In Demo Race

Announces He Is Actively Seeking Presidential Nod

NEW YORK, June 9—UP—Gov. Averell Harriman tossed his hat into the air Saturday and announced he is an active candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Until now an "inactive" candidate for the nomination, Harriman literally threw his size 7-14 hat into the political ring in a speech at a haters convention. He tossed a gray fedora 10 feet into the air and declared:

"I want to say to you, this hat is in the ring. You gave me this hat, and I want to tell you, nobody is going to take it away from me."

"I am going to Chicago as a candidate fighting for the principles of the liberal party, Franklin Delano Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman. The Democratic party will come out of the convention a better party because of the fight I and my supporters will make."

Harriman, who still is recovering from a prostate gland operation performed May 20, returned to New York Saturday morning, saying he joined his audience in "hoping and praying for the full and early recovery of the President of the United States."

He made his first formal declaration of his candidacy for president in a speech to 200 delegates of the United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers International Union at the Statler hotel. His 20-minute speech was interrupted by cheers and applause 18 times.

Friday, the same delegates heard David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, urge Harriman to step out of the presidential race to aid the candidacy of Adlai E. Stevenson.

Dubinsky is a state vice chairman of the liberal party. Alex Rose, president of the Hatmakers union, also is a state vice chairman of the party.

Rose said Harriman's dramatic announcement was "an historic moment."

"As long as I stand on my feet, I will fight for the liberal party," Harriman told the union members. Harriman, who will be 65 in November, left New York hospital June 3 to complete his recovery from what was described as a minor operation.

House Collapses In Madrid, Spain; 17 Persons Killed

MADRID, June 9 (UP)—A floor collapsed beneath a wedding party and crashed into another party on the floor below Friday night killing 16 persons, five of them children.

Thirty-six persons were injured, two critically. The collapse sent 60 wedding guests crashing into the midst of a party celebrating a baptism. The guests were dancing on the second floor of an old building on Madrid's north side when the floor gave way after a p.m.

Bride Angel Ramon Vasquez, 21, suffered fractures of both legs. Groom Tomas Rodriguez Diaz, 28, escaped with light injuries.

"There was no warning," said Tomas Gomez. "I was dancing and we suddenly fell."

Police, firemen and Red Cross workers worked throughout the night to free screaming victims and remove the bodies. The city's 53 ambulances shuttled the victims from the scene as they were found.

Every fireman in the city rushed to the building. Three detachments of the civil guard and three sections of police were called in.

Madrid's mayor and the governor of Madrid province directed the rescue work. Generalissimo Francisco Franco sent members of his household staff to bring him a report of the disaster.

Americans Place Propaganda Label On Russian Letter

WASHINGTON, June 9—UP—American officials Saturday branded Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin's newest disarmament proposals "pure propaganda."

They predicted a polite but firm American rejection. They said Bulganin's latest message to President Eisenhower was sadly lacking in new ideas for solving the East-West disarmament deadlock. Instead, the Soviet premier sought to persuade the United States and its allies to disarm on their own without awaiting an international agreement with foolproof controls.

The United States has refused to accept such proposals in the past and officials said it is not going to now.

Just how soon a reply rejecting Bulganin's proposal will be dispatched is not certain, but it likely will have to await Mr. Eisenhower's recovery from his emergency operation.

In London, the Bulganin letter was received coolly by British officials. They expected to make no immediate reply and none before consulting with the other western powers.

Adenauer, Pearson Foreign Officials Schedule Parleys With Sec'y Dulles

WASHINGTON, June 9—UP—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will hold two key meetings with top foreign officials here next week on how to strengthen the Atlantic alliance.

The meetings will be with Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Both have strong ideas on what should be done to keep the western allies firmly tied together during Russia's "sweetness and light" campaign.

Pearson, who arrived here Saturday, is scheduled to spend most of Monday afternoon with Dulles to talk over ways to expand the North Atlantic Treaty alliance in non-military fields. Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), President Eisenhower's special ambassador to help expand non-military aspects of NATO, probably will sit in on the meeting.

Pearson is one of three foreign ministers named by the last NATO council meeting in May to look into ways of expanding the alliance. He hopes to learn through discussions with Dulles and George exactly how far the United States is willing to go in developing NATO along economic and political lines.

The feeling among many westerners that economic competition may seriously weaken NATO unless more emphasis is placed on the non-military side of the organization. Many Europeans are beginning to question the necessity of a strong NATO, now that Russia is acting like a more peaceful nation.

The United States feels, however, that there is as yet no evidence of a basic change in Russian policy that would justify the West lowering its guard.

Luffey Announces His Withdrawal From Race For City Council Post

John L. Luffey yesterday announced his withdrawal from the race for Monroe commissioner of finance and public utilities.

In his announcement, Luffey stated, "I take this opportunity of expressing my heartfelt thanks to the citizens of Monroe for the many acts of kindness and courtesies shown me during the recent primary. . . I wish to thank all those fine people who volunteered their services and gave so liberally of their time and worked for my cause. . . I made no commitment to anyone before announcing for office and in withdrawing, I do so with a clear conscience."

Luffey was to be in a runoff election June 26 with H. W. McSherry.

The effect of his withdrawal will be to eliminate the second primary, leaving McSherry as the Democratic nominee.

Unless he is opposed in the general election by an independent or Republican candidate, McSherry will take office in July.

European Nation's Stirred Over News Of President Eisenhower's Operation

LONDON (AP)—Europeans talked in many tongues today on one topic—Eisenhower's illness.

Newspapers carried the news of President Eisenhower's illness in big headlines. Everywhere the big question was "will he stand again for election?"

Aides reported Prime Minister Eden had made "sympathetic inquiries" about the President's health. French Premier Guy Mollet sent a telegram to Eisenhower expressing hope of his prompt recovery.

The London Daily Mirror said: "There was sad news last night about Dwight D. Eisenhower."

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer during a brief stopover at Ireland's Shannon Airport said he learned "with regret" of the President's illness.

The influential London Times said Eisenhower's sudden collapse casts a shadow over the coming election.

"Even if the President's indisposition yields as readily to treatment as everyone hopes it will, misgivings about his health as a factor in the November election are bound to be revived," the Times said.

In Holland many newspapers were flooded with telephone calls because of false death rumors.

At a Paris reception for former President Harry S. Truman, French political leaders expressed their unhappiness about Ike's health. Several expressed the hope that he would withdraw from the campaign. Truman has said he hopes the President's illness is not serious.

From Bonn, Western German President Theodor Heuss cabled his sincere wishes for Eisenhower's quick recovery, saying he'd heard with "friendly concern" of his illness.

A Catholic Capuchin friar said in Rome: "In my convent we are all praying for his recovery. Although he is not a Catholic he is a good man."

Operation For Obstruction Is Called Success

Physicians See No Bar To Second Term In Office

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower's doctors reported tonight that his condition "continues to be most satisfactory." That followed up an afternoon report that he should be fully active in four to six weeks and could safely run for re-election.

The President spent most of the day sleeping at Walter Reed Hospital, where he underwent a major pre-dawn operation for relief from an intestinal obstruction.

In a massive afternoon news conference at which the doctors said Eisenhower came through the operation in excellent shape, Maj. Gen. Leonard G. Heaton, the surgeon who performed the operation, also said there was a possibility the President might have died had it not been for the emergency surgery.

Dr. Heaton is also commandant at the hospital. He spoke for the team of four surgeons who were at the operating table.

They found no cancer, he said. A reporter asked whether he saw any reason Eisenhower should not run for re-election.

"I certainly do not," Dr. Heaton replied. "I am sure that I speak for all the doctors at the table."

Eisenhower can see members of his staff Monday or Tuesday and begin tacking his lighter duties; he can leave the hospital in about 15 days, go to a spot of his own choosing for a period of convalescence; and "should be able to return to his full duties at the White House in four to six weeks from now."

Six weeks from now would be July 21, about a month before the Republican National Convention opens in San Francisco on Aug. 20. Far more than enough delegates to give him renomination were long ago pledged to him.

One of the many questions put to Dr. Heaton was:

"You would say now that he is out of danger, or how would you characterize it?"

"I would say that at this time," he replied.

Another of the four surgeons who performed the pre-dawn operation of an hour and 53 minutes, Dr. Isidor Ravdin of the University of Pennsylvania, concurred in Dr. Heaton's report.

"I see no reason why the President should not make a complete recovery and go ahead with the full duties of the presidency," Dr. Ravdin said. "He should be better off now than he was previously."

Dr. Heaton also said there was no evidence of any connection between Eisenhower's heart attack of last Sept. 24 and his present illness. As for any effect the operation may have on Eisenhower's life expectancy, he said "We think it improves it."

Vice President Nixon, who received word in a special telephone call at his Capitol office, said:

"I am delighted at the excellent

Republicans Hail Reports By Physicians

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Republicans hailed as "great news" today doctors' predictions that President Eisenhower will recover swiftly from an intestinal operation and be fit to seek a second term.

While agreeing that the news from the President's bedside is good, some Democrats made it clear that they believe his sudden illness will cause Eisenhower to review his Feb. 29 decision to run again.

After a 24-hour nose dive which began with the first announcement of the President's illness, Republicans hopes soared again with a midafternoon statement by Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, commander of Walter Reed Army Hospital where Eisenhower is confined.

As the chief surgeon at the pre-dawn emergency operation to remove an intestinal obstruction, Heaton said he "certainly" does not see any reason Eisenhower should not run again. He added that he was sure "I speak for all the doctors at the (operating) table."

Heaton said the president showed he was able to sign official papers next week, leave the hospital in about 15 days for a period of convalescence and "return to his full duties at the White House in four to six weeks from now."

Sen. Mundt (D-S.D.) said this is "great news for the Republicans."

And Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) predicted that Eisenhower, whom he called "indestructible," certainly would run again.

Heaton said doctors think the operation will improve Eisenhower's life expectancy.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said he was "delighted" that the President's operation was a success.

"All Americans, regardless of party, should rejoice that the President is on the road to recovery," Mansfield said. He added that as long as Eisenhower is in office, he is the president of all the people and not just the Republicans.

Mansfield also said he was will be able to run for re-election as I think it is the duty of both parties to put forth their best men, and he is the best man the Republicans can nominate."

"Of course we'll do our best to defeat him in November," Mansfield added.

Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said there now is "no question in my mind" that Eisenhower will run for re-election.

Eisenhower already has hundreds of votes above those necessary for renomination at the San Francisco convention.

Democrats had made much of the presidential health issue earlier in the campaign but seemed to have dropped it lately to concentrate more directly on Eisenhower's absences from his desk to play golf, vacation or to visit his Gettysburg, Pa., farm. They have stressed what the term "part-time president" issue.

Operation For

progress the President is making as indicated by the report of the physicians and I know this sentiment will be shared by all Americans and by people throughout the world."

Dr. Heaton said there was no question about this having been a real emergency.

He explained that when Eisenhower was under observation last night, the doctors found that abdominal swelling and inflammation was increasing.

Without an operation, he continued, gangrene of the bowel could have set in—a very serious situation... this will cause death."

Earlier, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty had relayed encouraging reports on the President and said "I do not anticipate any" interruption in the official duties of the presidency. Hagerty also passed along a doctor's report that Eisenhower was able to smile through his pain and say wryly: "What a belly ache." The pain was expected to continue for a few days.

The doctors' meeting with newsmen was long, and it was held in a stifling hot room. Dr. Heaton was perspiring heavily as he finished reading the formal report, and then used a black board diagram of the small and large intestines to explain further.

He read the report slowly to the attentive reporters:

"The postoperative condition of the President is excellent and we have every expectation of a normal convalescence."

"We look for a rapid and complete recovery."

"We feel that he shall return to his good health in a short period of time."

"During the coming week he should be able to sign official papers and carry on those functions of the government which are necessary."

"We should like to establish here as well as I that there is no relationship between ileitis and malignant disease. I want you to know that there was nothing suggesting a malignant disease found at the operation."

"Ileitis is a nonspecific inflammatory disease of the terminal ileum, of unknown origin."

"This disease is more commonly found in younger age groups. It is a fairly common disorder and is probably much more common than is diagnosed."

"Dr. Burrill Crohn, after whom the disease is sometimes called, has stated and we agree that it HEART SPECIALIST ARRIVES TO SEE PRESIDENT—Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist who has been a consultant on President Eisenhower's case since he suffered the last Sept. 24 heart attack, has a serious look as he waits in an automobile for the ride from National Airport in Washington to Walter Reed Hospital. is not a dangerous disorder."

"Dr. Crohn has also stated that when necessary, and this occurs infrequently, the disease can be readily circumvented by surgery."

"During the preoperative observation of the President and at Walter Reed, every opportunity was given this condition to correct itself; and it also gave us an opportunity during this interim to restore his electrolyte and fluid balance."

"The third series of X-rays of the abdomen, which were taken about 1 a.m. this morning, demonstrated continuing and unrelieved intestinal obstruction despite all corrective measures."

"Therefore surgery was decided upon."

"At operation, the preoperative diagnosis of ileitis with obstruction was confirmed. No other complications were present."

"The involved area of about 10 inches of the terminal ileum was bypassed, thus relieving the obstruction."

"The abdomen was closed without drainage."

"The President's cardiac condition remained normal throughout the procedure and he left the operating table in excellent condition and has remained so, as previously reported."

Dr. Heaton at one point opened his jacket and traced on his own body the location of the incision made in Eisenhower's. It ran about six inches long from just below the breast bone to a little above the navel. Eisenhower already has a scar there, from an old appendix operation.

Dr. Heaton used his blackboard diagram to show how the President's intestinal system was given a short cut to avoid the inflamed area and how a new opening a little less than two inches in diameter was provided in the large intestine.

He said the ileum, which is at the end of the small intestine, was left in because it should not cause any trouble and the bypassed membrane should atrophy through disuse.

While in disuse, he continued, the inflamed section will lose its swelling and inflammation.

He predicted no further surgery will be necessary and said there is no reason to expect a recurrence of the trouble.

Treace of the trouble.

Marijuana, Negro Seized In South Louisiana Town

PLAQUEMINE, La., June 9 (AP)—Marijuana valued at thousands of dollars was seized and a Negro man arrested and charged with possession of narcotics in Plaquemine today.

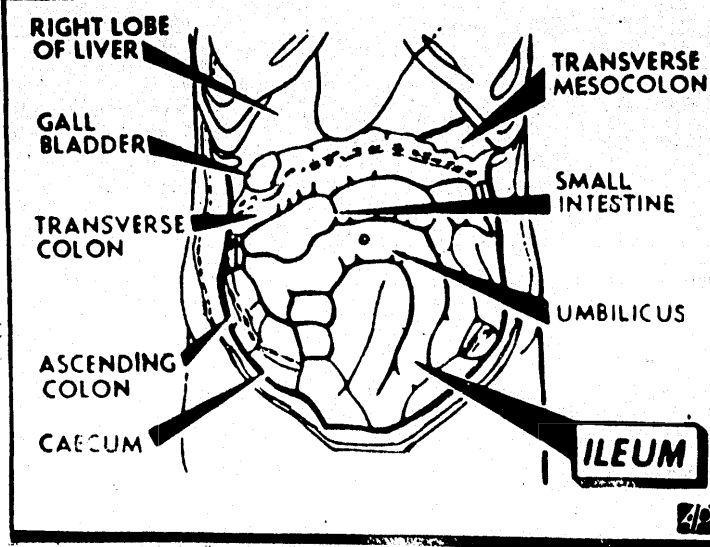

Officers identified the man as Robert Lewis, 40. He was taken into custody as he attempted to deliver some marijuana to a customer, Sheriff C. A. Griffin Jr. said. Deputies, state police and three men from the New Orleans narcotics squad took part in the arrest.

Marijuana valued at between $5,000 and $6,000 was found in Lewis' room and car, along with equipment to make cigars.

Lewis had been under surveillance for some time, Griffin said.

Doctor Who Discovered Disease Afflicting Ike Sees Complete Recovery

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—A foremost authority on the ailment afflicting President Eisenhower said today "the outlook is very good" for the President's complete recovery in a few weeks.

Dr. Burrill Crohn, the discoverer of the ailment, ileitis, said the President's case was the "most common and safest type," and "the most easily amenable to successful surgery."

"If the operation was successful—and I feel sure it was in this case—the President should be restored to full health, with no diminution of his working efficiency," Dr. Crohn said.

He said the President probably would be confined to bed for about two weeks, and then gradually resume his regular schedule.

Dr. Crohn, of New Milford, Conn., who discovered the disease in 1932, said that the diagnosis of a regional, terminal ileitis—obstruction of Eisenhower's lower small intestine—was the "best type" to cure.

"The man should get entirely well," he said.

He said the terminal, localized ileitis involved only about 8 to 12 inches of the lowermost small intestine, which altogether is 13 feet long.

He said about 80 per cent of the cases of ileitis were of this type.

Surgery removing the short intestinal segment of only a few inches, he said, causes "no impairment of the patient's processes, nourishment or health in general."

Polish Weekly Paper Asks Probe By Sen. Eastland

DETROIT, June 9 (AP)—The Polish language weekly newspaper, Glos Ludowy (People's Voice), in a statement tonight said that if Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) "wants to have an investigation let him investigate the murder of Thomas X. Dombrowski," the newspaper's editor.

Dombrowski was shot to death by a masked gunman at a social club in New York May 31. Police called it a bungled holdup.

The paper's editorial staff issued the statement in commenting on Sen. Eastland's request to Atty. Gen. Brownell to take action against the paper on allegations that it is under the direction of the Communist government of Poland. The newspaper called the allegations "absurd."

The paper said Eastland is trying to pick up where Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) was forced to stop when he was exposed.

U. S. Aid Pledged Benson Reverses Stand On Paying For Crop Damage

WASHINGTON, June 9 —UP— Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson reversed himself Friday and announced soil bank payments will be made this year to farmers who lose their crops through drouth or blight.

Only four days ago Benson denounced as "largely untrue" reports the administration's new $1.2 billion soil bank is "drouth relief" or "plow-up" program. He promised the taxpayers "a dollar paid out."

He announced regulations for the program Friday. Under them, farmers who plant less than their quotas of 1956 winter wheat because of drouth or other adverse weather conditions will receive $1 an acre for the unplanted acres. Any basic crops destroyed by adverse conditions and plowed under will be repaid at the specified rate for each crop but not less than $6 an acre.

USDA Undersecretary True D. Morse, said the Agriculture Department "wants to move along with the spirit of the law as well as the letter of the law." He added that the law has been discussed "very broadly" with the White House staff and members of Congress.

Benson charged Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-N. C.) of the House Agriculture committee with "grasping at political straws" in accusing the Department of delaying the start of the soil bank.

Benson set soil bank payment rates for peanuts at 3 cents a pound and for tobacco at from 8 to 19 cents a pound, depending on type. Previously he has set rates for corn at 90 cents a bushel, cotton 15 cents a pound, wheat $1.20 a bushel and rice $2.25 a hundred-weight.

Benson laid down four rules under which a farmer may participate in the soil bank this year.

1. Underplant his corn, cotton, rice, tobacco, peanuts or spring wheat acreage allotments to comply with the law's acreage reserve provision or because of adverse weather conditions.

2. Underplant his 1956 allotment for winter wheat because of adverse weather conditions.

3. Certify he has not harvested part of his crop because of destruction by natural causes.

4. Certify he is in an area where the established cutoff date for a crop is later than May 28 and that he has plowed under some of his crop after that date but before June 30.

Benson said the rules and rates are for the 1956 crop only and "will not present a fair trial of what the program can accomplish."

Leo Baer Named Officer In State High Twelve Club

Leo M. Baer, president of the Monroe High Twelve Club was elected second vice-president of the state chapter of the High Twelve Club at its organizational meeting Friday at Baton Rouge.

Other officers elected were: president, W. D. Smith of Shreveport; first vice-president, Dr. J. R. Kidwell of Baton Rouge; third vice-president, W. H. Pholman of New Orleans, and secretary-treasurer, Joseph E. Strifek of Shreveport.

Baer said that the State club will work with all the clubs in the state and will help them in their projects throughout the year.

The High Twelve is a Masonic club that has as its purpose the welfare of the American diplomatic service. The club will try to interest young men in the diplomatic service and attain for them scholarships in educational lines that will fit them for his work.

The average American uses over 600 lead pencils in his lifetime.

Archeologist Says New Evidence Indicates Man Lived Million Years Ago

HAMBURG, Germany, June 9 (AP)—A German archeologist says he has found proof that man has been kicking around a lot longer than is generally believed.

The proof, says Dr. Alfred Rust of the Schleswig-Holstein State Museum, was turned up in a pit in Communist East Germany. He returned recently from excavations there.

Rust said he unearthed 50 hand-made, sandstone tools which he estimated are more than 700,000 years old. And he puts that estimate on an "at least" basis.

The previous oldest proof of the presence of man, Rust said, was considered to be the Heidelberg jawbone, found 50 years ago near Heidelberg, Germany. It was believed to be some 500,000 years old.

The discovery of the sandstone tools, says Rust "together with previous discoveries at the same place indicate human beings existed in what now is northern Germany about a million years ago."

At that time, he continued, "These human specimens had developed far beyond the mere transitory animal-to-man stage."

He said the tools found in the pit near Meiningen, about 10 miles from the West German border, belong to the subtropical tertiary period. That period, he added, preceded the glacial period, which could be placed between 600,000 and 700,000 years ago. "It is surprising," Rust said, "to ascertain that the form of the clearly shaped tools we found was always repeated. This clearly indicated they were made by man."

Judging by the shape of the tools, the archeologist said they were used chiefly for cutting and shaving and for working with wood and bones.

Funeral Is Set For Victim Of Auto Accident

Funeral services for S. V. Vick, 67, of Ouachita City, Ark., who died Friday afternoon of injuries received in an automobile accident at the Monroe, Sterlington and Bastrop intersection north of Monroe, will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Mulhearn Funeral chapel with Rev. C. C. Fuller officiating.

Burial, under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral home, will follow in Liberty Church cemetery near Haile.

Vick died of a crushed skull and chest following a near head-on collision with a large dump truck driven by Edward O. Pessnell, 35, Route 1, West Monroe, La., at 8:00 p.m.

Quachita Parish Coroner J. T. French declared.

Pessnell was not injured.

State troopers said that the vehicles hit together with a "terrible impact" at the intersection. The front wheels of the dirt-loaded dump truck, driven by Pessnell and headed toward Bastrop, were ripped away with axle intact and were resting underneath the overturned vehicle.

Vick's auto was traveling west and had started to turn into Highway 2.

The impact of the crash slammed Vick violently against the dash and steering wheel, causing the crushed skull and chest.

Survivors include one son, S. V. Vick, Jr., with the U.S. Army; two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy O. Lathry, of El Paso, Texas, and Mrs. Murtie V. Norstum, of Leesville; one sister, Mrs. Hugh Lindsey, of Ft. Worth; three brothers, Lester Vick and Roy Vick, both of Ft. Worth, and Eugene Vick, of Ellisville, Miss.

House Slashes Foreign Aid Bill

The national House of Representatives last week tentatively approved a foreign aid bill after slashing more than $1 billion dollars from the total sought by the Eisenhower administration.

Even with this use of the paring knife, the bill totals some $3,800,000,000.

Members of Congress are well aware of the steadily mounting opposition to the entire foreign aid program. Internationally minded administration officials are blaming this popular revolt upon a "return of isolationist sentiment." If it is "isolationist" to insist that preference be given to American taxpayers, farmers, workers and consumers, then the one-worlders correctly size up the situation.

1956, a full-dress national election year, finds the foreign aid program under increasingly heavy fire from large elements among the people.

The $55 billion give-away of American tax money abroad since the inception of the foreign aid program has been used in part to subsidize and set up competing agricultural economies that are steadily driving American farmers out of world markets they held for many decades. As a result, unmanageable surpluses of basic farm commodities have piled up at home.

Vast sums of American foreign aid have been used to develop foreign oil industries, to the point where these offer increasingly serious competition to domestic oil in the home market.

And the billions of U. S. tax dollars shovelled out in countries around the world also have been used to set up competing manufactures abroad. The latter now offer increasingly heavy threats to our domestic economy, in such fields as textiles, where big plants are shutting down, with the loss of many thousands of jobs in communities of New England and the South.

With the public debt of the United States at a record high level, taxes outrageously high, and vast domestic enterprises such as river and harbor improvements slowed to a snail's pace for lack of funds, a continuation of foreign aid to the extent of several billions of dollars annually appears to be a monumental folly.

The people are demanding of their lawmakers that a halt be called in this worldwide WPA type of spending.

Automation And You

Automation is a comparatively new word. But the scientific principle it stands for is—contrary to the belief of many—a mature and well-established one.

It was recently pointed out, for instance, that every time you flip a light switch, you are putting to use an outstanding example of automation. The force you release with that simple action goes back through wires, meters, substations and all manner of other equipment to generating plants which are automatically controlled, regulated, and supervised to a remarkable degree.

Fear has been expressed that increasing automation will deprive men of jobs. Here, too, the electric industry gives important testimony contrary to that. Even though the production and distribution of power has become increasingly automatic, employment in the industry has more than doubled since 1939. Looking at the matter from the consumer's point of view, since 1939 the cost of electricity has actually shown a slight decline, even though the cost of living as a whole has risen 93 per cent.

In 1954, the average worker in manufacturing industry had at his disposal electrical energy equivalent to the human energy 250 helpers could provide. That, in large measure, accounts for today's high wages and superior working conditions.

Every historical advance which has substituted mechanical energy of any kind for human and animal muscle has worked to the benefit of the masses of the people.

A Question Of Climate

"You hear it said that the United States has built its industrial machine and its prosperity on a basis of unlimited raw materials," the head of a leading oil company recently observed. "You hear it said that any other country which had these vast supplies could have accomplished the same thing."

"But I don't believe that tells the whole story. These raw materials have been here for centuries. The native red Indians of this country had access to them for years. Yet they barely managed to work out a living. No, there's more to progress than raw materials."

He then dealt with the things which have made possible this country's economic achievements. High on the list he put individual dignity, equality of opportunity, and flexibility. These are all basic parts of our free system, under which men can go as far as their energies and abilities permit. They can take long risks—and, if success comes, prosper from them.

The oil industry is a good example of this. Other countries—including Iron Curtain countries—are also rich in natural oil resources. But, by comparison with the United States, small advantage has been taken of them. And the reason for that is that government is the boss and the individual is a cipher, of value only as he serves the purposes of the state.

'Right To Work' Fraud

Editor, Morning World:

Your editorial of June 7, 1956 entitled "Assault Upon The Right to Work Law" keeps you in the class with Goebbels of the Hitler Fame.

The "Right to Work" fraud does hurt Louisiana Labor and Monroe Labor. Ninety per cent of the big building projects that have been let in this area have been let out of state "open shop" contractors who bring their own cheaply paid workers with them. This does not help Monroe or Ouachita Parish. These cheaply paid workers take their cheap wages back out of the State to their cheap communities.

You claim that millions of Union members favor the "Right to Work" fraud, the source of your information has lied or you have. There may be a few in this category in the United States but I have never seen one in Monroe or Louisiana. I have been around people all my life.

You claim that slush funds have been created to bribe the legislature to repeal the "Right to Work" fraud. You know this is a most damnable lie. Labor Unions in my experience hardly have enough money to carry on their normal functions.

You don't tell about the millions that were spent by the people who paid for the passage of the "Right to Work" fraud.

That many out of state construction companies contributed to the "Right to Work" fund for its passage. One of the big "Right to Work" fraud companies of Texas even furnished their attorney to write the Law.

Why is it that your paper and all, all of the people who fostered the "Right to Work" fraud on Louisiana have never, never come out in favor of any of the social benefits that the people of Louisiana and the nation enjoy such as: old age pensions, unemployment benefits, unemployment compensation, workers' compensation, paternity payments to farmers, etc.???

But you want to help the worker all of a sudden with a "Right to Work" Law. The actual facts of the matter are you want cheap wages and to have a few "Big Shots" tell the ordinary worker what he will eat, the kind of "shot gun house" he will live in, the kind of rattle trap he will drive and how he will dress if there is anything left to buy most of these things after he has bought his corn meal and beans.

Only workers who want the "Right to Work" fraud are those who want the benefits of unions without paying for them and if you check up they are probably cheating somewhere else too.

House Bill 603

Baton Rouge, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The laws of a state or nation set the pattern of life for that state or nation. The laws of a Democracy vouchsafe to it's people the right to make the laws and choose the officials who govern them. When laws are passed that take the power of government from the people who are governed, and place unlimited power into the hands of those who govern, democracy dies.

The citizens of any democracy have but one means to protect their right to select their officials and make their laws, and that means is the ballot. It is therefore of utmost importance that the casting of the ballots at election be controlled by laws guaranteeing fairness and honesty. It behooves every citizen of Louisiana to be alert to the laws being proposed by this legislation which drastically affect and change our election laws.

The Voting Machine, which prevents the "stuffing of ballot boxes", the "fixing of ballots", the "chain vote", and unfair and dishonest practices, has been voted out of precincts 200 or less, in committee. The loss of these voting machines will definitely affect the efficiency and fairness of Louisiana's elections.

Please call your Senators and Representatives and urge them to vote against House Bill 603, which bill forbids the use of voting machines in precincts 200 or less. Precinct 201 to 300 will be the judgement of the board.

Mrs. J. W. Worthington.

Belligerent Platform

New Orleans, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The press reports that the Michigan State Democratic Convention adopted a belligerent platform demanding that the South (who else?) integrate the races immediately, and calling on Congress to enact the force bills now pending to compel the South to live according to rules made by them; their own perfection needing no improvement. This is the lead off to what the Chicago convention will demand in August. Only the culpably blind will ignore this.

The votes which the delegation from each state will be allowed to cast in the convention show why the South will be disregarded. The States of Michigan, Illinois, New York and California will cast a vote equal to the 10 southern states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Virginia, Texas and Florida; provided the last two stick with the south. About the same proportion prevails in the electoral college.

It is clear to those willing to see, that the south has already been written off by the bundle of splinters calling itself the Democratic party in the north. The Southern delegates will be lucky to escape being hooted bodily out of the hall by the sergeant at arms, before they can announce a bolt; for unconditional surrender under any pretense whatever is unthinkable.

In this state of affairs, it is squarely up to the authorized leadership of the Democratic party in the south to provide for that event. Whether by a third party or concerted action in another manner, is relatively unimportant.

What is of the utmost importance is not to be caught in the lurch with nowhere to go. That would stamp southern statesmanship as bankrupt. Already the meddling, hypocritical outlanders have strained the good relations between the races, not only in the south, but among themselves. If they are permitted to organize a New Reconstruction Carpet Bag government to descend upon us to forcibly integrate our social life and harass and destroy southern business, the effects of race relations will be bad beyond our worst imagination.

Such A Silly Way To Die

Down in our Missouri Ozarks as soon as the thermometer climbs past eighty it's open season on drownings.

We drown most little boys, but we will also drown some little girls and some grown-ups this year.

We will average one every week-end in such beautiful rivers as the Merimac, the Current, the White and the Mississippi.

We who oversubscribe our quota in the polo drive in every county in the state this year, but nobody will say much about the deaths by drowning.

Though we lose more children that way!

I mean it.

In 1955 in the United States 930 Americans died from polio (U. S. Public Health Service preliminary estimate).

In 1955 in the United States 6,500 Americans died by drowning.

And they could help it!

There is a simple answer, an inexpensive investment which would have saved the life of every one of those 6,500.

A cork vest.

A cork or an inflated lifejacket. But the youngsters are afraid of being called "chicken" women find them "unattractive" and men consider them a nuisance. So in 1956 we will continue drowning ourselves at the rate of one every 80 minutes.

Last summer in Michigan I went out to frighten trout with some friends who had been thirty years on those streams without incident.

Our canoe sidwiped a submerged stump and went over. The three of us made it safely to the bank, but in heavy clothing and fast water it wasn't easy.

Around he camp stove that night we discussed the incident. We were all reasonably expert swimmers. But we were so confident of our safety that a non-swimmer might well have been welcomed along. Luckily, all we lost was our tackle.

I have a sympathy letter from Vice President Nixon who, the same week, fell out of a boat in Florida's everglades.

From now on it is a rule in my own family.

We board no large craft unless life preservers are handy. We board no small craft unless we are wearing same. Angel, Small Paul and the Old Man.

This is the extent of my immediate responsibility, but I felt obliged to talk it over with you. As the season wears on, each day this totally unnecessary tragedy will be repeated.

A happy outing will end in tragedy and friends will mourn and parents will weep and you know what?

To Be Forgiven

JUST being sorry in our heart... For having hurt someone... Does not deserve forgiveness for... The wrong that we have done... And telling it to God is not... Sufficient to the end... For He would have us make it known... To our offended friend... We must express our sorrow to... The one we treated so... And make amends as much as we... Are able to bestow... Our sentiment must be sincere... And we must promise then... To never be so thoughtless as... To hurt our friend again... And if with true humility... These things we strive to do... God will forgive us, and no doubt... Our injured friend will too.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

Adlai--Front Runner

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Adlai E. Stevenson has emerged from the gauntlet of searing primaries as the leading candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, but with no more than 2594 delegates or less than half the 687 required for nomination by the Democratic national convention at Chicago.

Democrats here foresee a strong possibility of a combination of opposing forces to stop the former Illinois governor, but old convention hands doubt that it will be effective. Most of them believe that from now on, Stevenson will be an odds-on favorite for the nomination. He is expected to gain considerable strength in states which name their delegates in state conventions.

It would not be an upset if he were nominated on the second ballot at Chicago. That could happen through the failure of other candidates to hold their support, resulting in a bandwagon swing in which some favorite sons would release their delegates. The history of national conventions of both parties has demonstrated that attempts to stop the leading candidates have failed in memorable instances, dating back to the Republican convention in 1908, when William Howard Taft was chosen in spite of such a road block, 1916 when Charles Evans Hughes overcame an opposition alignment and the Democratic convention of 1932, when Franklin Delano Roosevelt was similarly successful.

On each of those occasions, the field of candidates against the leader was scattered, making an opposing coalition of forces difficult. In addition to the 164 delegate votes now credited to Senator Estes Kefauver, the compilation at this point shows 226 for other candidates and 3703 uncommitted, or a total of 763.

That leaves approximately 350 delegates still to be selected of which Stevenson should get enough to give him more than 300 votes on the first roll call.

The second ballot nomination, while a possibility, cannot be made a prediction at this time, because of possible shifts in strength which could hold up the choice for at least two more roll calls. For example, Senator Kefauver, now considered by most observers to be out of the running, might join with Governor Averell Harriman. Their convention leaders discussed a similar switch in 1952, but Governor Stevenson by then had made up his mind to accept, and was nominated on the third ballot.

One conviction advanced here has been that if neither Stevenson, Kefauver or Harriman gained delegates on the second ballot, the nomination would go to a dark horse, with Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri the most likely possibility. Since then Stevenson has won California's 68 delegates with the combined vote for Stevenson and Kefauver exceeding that for President Eisenhower by well over 400,000.

California's electoral vote has had maximum importance in two close Democratic presidential victories, 1916 and 1948, and Stevenson's win there demonstrated that he probably would have the best chance to carry the state of any Democratic nominee, though he received in excess of 100,000 fewer primary votes than President Eisenhower, who had no opposition.

The most unpredictable factor in the Democratic maneuvering over the nomination appears to be former President Truman. There has been speculation that if he fails in his expected effort to aid Governor Harriman he will switch to Senator Symington from his own state, and make a last ditch effort to stop Stevenson.

That is not generally credited

Walter Winchell

Lights Over Broadway

Covering the human adventure has its pitfalls for newspapermen. The satisfaction of having a story denied, frequently, the details have a tinge of suspicion.

Harry Truman's squirrel - head denial, for instance, or Marilyn Monroe's original white - lies about her romance with Arthur Miller. Why, he's a married man, she baby-stared... The ultimate in the daffy denial category happened some years ago: A Presidential press secretary requested reporters to deny a report that the Chief Executive was trying to censor reporters. Following publication of the denials, the press secretary once again called in correspondents and repeated his denial of the censorship — and then asked that they refrain from either publishing his original request or his denial.

A thousand years ago (before newspapers became dull gentlemen) The Sun vigorously denied a story in the N.Y. Times. Whereupon the Times thundered: "Will the editor of The Sun retract his misstatements and apologize to The Times, or does he prefer, by refusing to take this honorable course, to have these lies crammed down his throat by The Times?"

In the competitive ferocity of news-hunting, the opposition may strive to force denials. Washington correspondents (who are scooped) have been known to call the source of the news and pressure him into denying the story. In journalism, dog-eat-dog occasionally replaces man-bites-dog... A rival editor once denied an exclusive story in Joseph Pulitzer's paper and coupled his denial with an abusive attack against the publisher. Instructing editor (on how to answer the attack) Pulitzer showed his composure. "Treat the attacker with exquisite politeness, assuming that he did not intentionally mislead his readers, but was probably misled himself."

Which recalls our favorite warning: Never deny the other fellow's story. It might be true!

The Hearst papers reported the sinking of the British battleship "Audacious" during World War I. The story included a photo of the sinking ship plus several eye-witness reports. The British Admiralty promptly denied it. Incredibly, the Admiralty refused to deny its denial until 4 years later — when it was confirmed... Censors, of course, have made generous contributions to such ludicrous incidents. They inspired the World War II quip about the Ministry of Information carrier — pigeon that was leisurely flying to its destination when it was jostled by a second pigeon which shouted: "Get a move on. I've got the denial!"

An amazing scoop — confirmation drama stars reporter Will Irwin. He was among San Francisco's top newsmen before migrating to New York. When the quake staggered San Francisco Irwin was a Big City reporter. News from the here, though Truman, who will not be a delegate would like to see the convention nominate someone other than Stevenson. He is first of all a party man and would hardly take part in a finish fight against any candidate.

The Democrats figure to poll at least 28 to 30 million votes for their nominee, and by convention time in August the conviction may become general that Stevenson is still the party's best vote getter.

scene of the disaster was fragmentary. Equipped with these sketchy reports, he produced detailed stories of the quake based on his own great knowledge of the city. The result was 8 days of front-page sensations. His stories were lengthy and vivid. Incredibly, they were also accurate — every detail was later confirmed.

Equally fantastic is the following classic: When correspondent John Reed covered the Mexican War he composed a yarn about a major battle in which Pancho Villa, the rebel leader, emerged victorious. Reed parented the story while under the influence of harsh beverages... Competitors denied that the battle had taken place. Reed explained his predicament to Villa. The rebel chief was intrigued by the description of the battle, since the tactics were sound. He then proceeded to rescue Reed's career. Villa gathered his army and launched a battle which followed Reed's script... The scoop was confirmed.

The Cables: The Richard Baseharts (Valentina Cortese) can't figure the wild rumors that started at Capri. Never so happy... Elsa Maxwell's new halo in Paree is an old fashioned Pompadour. Marie Antoinette in drag... Luc Forêt, estranged from Genevieve, the Frenchchanteuse, is dawning — diggling with Rosemarie Sherman... Grace Grimaldi (whose beverages here were soft — drinks) is assisting good — will relations abroad by sampling slips of native wines... Is Lady Iris Mountbatten planning to wed a family choice in London? He's a Mr. Big in the British woolen industry... If Sarah Churchill weren't Mrs. Anthony Beauchamp she could be Princess. But Prince Marco Dalra keeps forgetting.

Gina Lollobrigida, restrained from witnessing the Broadway premiere of "Trapeze" (by film producers in France), has good reason to be miffed. Besides her large salary she inherits 5 p.c. of the gross... Myrna Dell, the Doll, will become Mrs. Herbert Patterson in the Fall. He's an actor... A New Jersey mayor and a N. Facts Worth Knowing

The first artificial satellite will be launched into its orbit at a height of about 200 miles at a speed of 17,000 to 18,000 miles an hour. At this distance, says the National Geographic Society, terrestrial gravity is many times greater than at the distance of the moon. Hence the orbital speed of the satellite will also have to be greater than that of the natural moon. The artificial satellite must travel around the earth at a speed of about five miles a second, faster than the fastest rifle bullet.

Automobile manufacturers use 345,000,000 pounds of cotton, 180,000,000 pounds of wool and more than 2,000,000 pounds of nylon every year.

The mohair used in automobile upholstery comes from a special breed of goats raised in Turkey and South Africa.

Airline Probe Seen Crucial

WASHINGTON — The big United States airlines are about to stand trial for the first time in 18 years.

The question: Are the major domestic passenger lines gouging the public by charging excessive fares?

A guilty verdict, besides bringing down fares, could usher in a new era of commercial aviation by forcing the Civil Aeronautics Board to open the sky to new competition.

The CAB, a powerful five-man federal agency which rules commercial aviation, last month announced it would investigate passenger fares charged by the 13 main domestic airlines. The investigation, the CAB said, was prompted by the high profits airlines made in 1955.

In the upcoming court of inquiry, the CAB will sit as combination prosecutor, judge and jury while the Air Transport Assn. will do much of the defending for the airlines. The 13 airlines to be investigated are members of the association an active trade organization. But the decision likely to count the most will be the one Congress makes from outside the CAB hearing room.

Some of the lawmakers like Sen. John J. Sparkman (D Ala.), chairman of the Senate Small Business Committee, and Rep. Emanuel Celler (D N. Y.), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, already have urged changes in aviation policy. Other Congressmen will not make up their minds until after the CAB investigation.

Congress could demand a change in CAB policies and, if that failed, could amend the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938. The act prescribes conditions for issuing flying certificates and setting fares.

Sparkman said, "Certainly there is room under the law to establish additional trunk lines. There is definitely need for more competition." Sparkman added that the trouble is not the Civil Aeronautics Act itself, but how the CAB has been administering it.

Celler said, too, that more competition was essential. "I don't believe the CAB has been doing a good job of administering the act," he said. "They have been more or less rubber stamping every thing the Air Transport Assn. has proposed."

Just what is the situation regarding airline profits and competition? CAB figures show that the airline business is booming. Profits after taxes for the industry as a whole averaged 11.8 per cent in 1955. The CAB considers 8 per cent a fair profit when figuring mail pay.

The profits after taxes for the 13 major airlines individually in 1955: American, 14 per cent; Braniff, 11 per cent; Capital, 21.6 per cent; Continental, 7 per cent; Delta, 11.4 per cent; Eastern, 13.4 per cent; National, 15.1 per cent; Northeast, 7.3 per cent; Northwest, 10.7 per cent; Trans World Airlines, 8.9 per cent; United, 8.7 per cent; Western, 14.9 per cent. The 13th airline, Colonial, lost 9.6 per cent, according to the CAB.

The overall profit trend shows a sharp climb up to 1951 and then a slight recession. The profits averaged by years for the 13 airlines: 1946, -1.5 per cent; 1947, -2.9 per cent; 1948, -4.7 per cent; 1949, 6.1 per cent; 1950, 11.2 per cent; 1951, 14.6 per cent; 1952, 14.2 per cent; 1953, 11.3 per cent; 1954, 10.4 per cent; 1955, 11.8 per cent.

The Air Transport Assn. says those profits are not excessive when figured over the long run. But Trans American Airlines (formerly North American), the most vocal of the non-scheduled airlines trying to get CAB permission to fly regularly, says they are and dares the CAB to let it enter the field and prove it.

The CAB has full power to regulate airline fares and to decide which airlines shall be certificated for passenger traffic. It has started three fare investigations in the past, but none has ever gone to the hearing stage. The CAB, in addition, has not certificated any new airlines for domestic passenger service since the Civil Aeronautics act was passed in 1938.

Its own defense of this closed-sky policy was given to the Senate Small Business committee last year: "While a review of the board's decisions in route proceedings would appear to suggest that no opportunities exist for a new carrier proposing domestic passenger trunkline service to obtain a certificate, the board does not believe its past decisions can be interpreted as foreclosing the possibility of entry by new carriers into the trunk line field."

Teague Blasts American Legion, Predicts Defeat Of Hike In Vet Benefits

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—With a blast at the American Legion the chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee today predicted defeat of a multibillion-dollar veterans' benefits bill approved yesterday by his committee.

Rep. Olin E. Teague (D-Tex.) told reporters he would ask the House to consider the controversial measure "probably the week after next."

"And I think the House will defeat the bill and teach the American Legion a lesson it won't forget," the committee chairman added.

The measure cleared the committee by a 10-8 vote over Teague's opposition.

Teague attributed the vote to American Legion "pressure" on committee members.

"But they won't be able to pressure the House," he predicted.

Some House leaders opposed to the bill conceded that the House might approve it on the theory it would not win Senate approval and wouldn't have a chance to become law so late in the session.

"After all, this is an election year and it's hard to vote against the veterans," one influential House member commented privately.

Cost estimates of the legislation vary. Committee experts figure the first-year cost at $1,400,000,000, with a rapid increase over the next 10 years and an over-all cost of 77 billion in the next 40 years.

In a formal statement, the American Legion said the 77 billion estimate was "fantastic" and blamed opposition to the bill on "misrepresentation of what it would do and foolish estimates of what it might cost." The measure was "thoroughly consistent with the national interest," it added.

The bill recommended by the committee is an amended version of the American Legion's original proposal, and includes some parts of the programs advocated by other veterans' groups.

President's Wife Cheered By News Of Ike's Progress

WASHINGTON, June 9 (UP)—Mamie Eisenhower, a soldier's wife who knows what it means to watch and wait, was heartened Saturday by news the President had won a major battle in his fight back to health.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty was in the group that brought the first lady a dawn report that Mr. Eisenhower's intestinal operation was successful and that he was in very satisfactory condition.

"She was very pleased," Hagerty said.

Mrs. Eisenhower arrived at Walter Reed Army hospital at 1:40 p.m. (EDT) Friday. She kept her anxious vigil through the long summer night in a room only a few feet from the President's top floor three-room suite.

Her son, Maj. John Eisenhower, and the President's youngest brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, waited quietly with her.

Hagerty Sleepless Press Secretary At White House Remains On Job

WASHINGTON, June 9 (UP)—"Iron Man" Jim Hagerty has been home twice for a few minutes to "change clothes" since President Eisenhower's illness was announced early Friday. But by early afternoon Saturday the White House news secretary still hadn't had a wink of sleep.

Meantime, Hagerty held at least a dozen news conferences. Almost all of them were repeated, at least in part, for cameramen. The first conference was at the White House at 8:50 a. m. (EDS) Friday when he reported cryptically: "The President had an upset stomach and headache."

Hagerty's base of operations was suddenly shifted Friday afternoon to the public relations office at Walter Reed Army medical center.

Asked at 1 p. m. Saturday whether he had had any sleep, Hagerty told a reporter: "No, I have not. I got up at a quarter to seven Friday and arrived at the White House an hour later."

The gruelling schedule was reminiscent of Hagerty's experience last September at Denver when he acted as spokesman during the President's heart attack.

Although he is 47 years old, Hagerty still looked much younger during the afternoon despite his lack of sleep.

At his many news conferences at the hospital he never faced less than 75 newsmen and photographers.

was "calm but concerned."

From time to time, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, the White House physician, relayed reports from the operating room.

Mrs. Eisenhower had come prepared to spend the night.

Before doctors made their post-midnight decision to operate she had occupied herself with routine correspondence her secretary had brought from the White House.

Mrs. Eisenhower finally got to bed about 5:45 a.m. (EDT).

Freeport Sulphur Plans 'Wait And See' Attitude Before Building Plant

BATON ROUGE, June 9—UP—Freeport Sulphur Co. will take a "wait and see" attitude before it proceeds with plans to build a nickel and cobalt plant in Louisiana, an official of the firm said Saturday.

L. E. Bumgarner of New Orleans, Freeport official, said his company would not go ahead with plans for the plant because of "tax raid" proposals before the Louisiana Legislature.

He added that the sulphur industry was watching to see if the lawmakers will "kill off this reckless tax policy" of the present administration.

Gov. Earl Long is backing a measure to triple severance tax on sulphur from $1.03 to $3 a long ton.

Freeport produces 95 per cent of the state's sulphur and would pay nearly all the $4.5 million in severance tax which the bill would impose.

The Long-backed bill has been reported favorably out of the House Ways and Means committee and is expected to be voted on in the House early next week.

Long's leaders also have introduced legislation which would impose higher gas gathering taxes to raise $27 million for public school teacher pay raises.

Hearings on a higher timber severance tax are expected early next week.

Bumgarner told of his company's policy in a letter to a Baton Rouge real estate broker, who sought to furnish a site between Baton Rouge and New Orleans for Freeport's proposed new plant.

The fact of the matter is that, while we have already acquired rights to certain Louisiana sites, we are very much in doubt about the merits of building in Louisiana at all," Bumgarner said.

"This doubt stems from the state proposal to triple sulphur severance tax, and otherwise to launch tax raids on Louisiana industry."

He said Freeport did not want to risk submitting a new plant "to the possibility of similar arbitrary taxation."

"All thinking citizens should promptly urge their senators and representatives to kill off this reckless tax policy before it ends Louisiana's chances of attracting new industry of any kind," he said.

Segregationists Voice Opposition To Convention

BATON ROUGE, June 9—A segregation leader today warned it was "a dangerous time to hold a constitution convention" that might tamper with Louisiana's registration and election laws.

And growing opposition threatened to kill Gov. Earl K. Long's plan to call a convention next year to re-write the much-extended state constitution, longest in the nation.

The House Judiciary "B" Committee will vote on the bill Monday.

Sen. W. M. Rainach, legislative segregation leader and president of the Louisiana Assn. of Citizens Councils, said there were two valid reasons for a new constitution:

1. The constitution embodies too much statutory law which requires numerous changes, making it much too long.

2. The constitution is poorly organized and difficult to understand. But he said these reasons were overshadowed by the potential danger to the "safeguards embodied in the constitution."

Rainach explained, "The South is in a life and death struggle. These safeguards are all important in preserving segregation and the rights of our states, especially with regard to registration and elections."

"The radical element in the north and east is attempting to bring about a second reconstruction in the South," he continued.

Registration provisions have changed little since 1898. One major revision came when the U. S. Supreme Court knocked out the "grandfather clause," designed to permit whites whose relatives had been eligible to vote to register even though they were illiterate.

It was replaced by a "understanding" clause, permitting registration by a "person of good character and reputation" who "shall be able to understand and give a reasonable interpretation of any section of either constitution when read him by the registrar . . . and must understand the duties and obligations of citizenship under a republican form of government."

This gave the registrar a wide leeway. In some southern states this provision has been used to disfranchise illiterate Negroes while permitting illiterate whites to vote.

The poll tax was repealed in the early 1930's at the urging of the late Sen. Huey P. Long.

In 1954, when Mississippi adopted new requirements making vote registration more difficult, Rainach said, the state merely was making its laws read more like those of Louisiana.

However, some 160,000 Negroes are registered in Louisiana, while Negro voters are a relatively unimportant number in Mississippi. In Louisiana, Negro registration has gone up steadily during the past eight years, under both Long and former Gov. Robert Kennon. In recent months, Citizens Councils have attempted to force strict application of the literacy test, all but ignored in Louisiana in recent years.

In addition to registration, Rainach said other constitutional safeguards needing protection included:

1. Distribution of the powers of state officials.
2. Terms of office and succession of state officials.
3. Judicial districts, Public Service Commission districts and other districts for election of public officials, to permit possible gerrymandering.

Poll Indicate Stevenson Preferred Over Harriman

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 9 (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson is preferred by a more than two-to-one margin over New York Gov. Averell Harriman for the presidential nomination, according to a cross-section poll Saturday of 518 Oklahoma Democrats in 24 cities.

Harriman, however, probably will get Oklahoma's vote for the nomination at the Democratic national convention.

The poll was a project of the United Press Editors of Oklahoma and was conducted under the direction of Martin Garber, Enid, president of the organization, and Wallace Kidd, Anadarko, vice president.

Tennessee Sen. Estes Kefauver showed up stronger than Harriman but weaker than Stevenson in the poll, while Senators Lyndon Johnson of Texas and Stuart Symington of Missouri also got support.

Gov. Raymond Gary is expected to lead Oklahoma's 28-vote delegation into the Harriman column at the national convention in Chicago.

Following are results of the sample balloting for the five leaders: Stevenson 178, Kefauver 116, Harriman 85, Johnson 55, Symington 33.

Senators Robert S. Kerr and Mike Monroney and former President Harry S. Truman each received five votes. Gary, Ohio Gov. Frank Lausche and Georgia Sen. Richard Russell each received four votes. Texas Rep. Sam Rayburn and Virginia Sen. Harry F. Byrd each had two. Twenty persons listed no choice.

Percentage-wise, Stevenson got 34.3 per cent of the vote, Kefauver 22.2 per cent and Harriman 16.4 per cent.

The poll was taken during the past six days. In some cities the check was made prior to announcement of Stevenson's victory over Kefauver in the California preferential primary.

In only six of the 24 cities did Harriman get more votes than Stevenson, while Kefauver topped Stevenson in five cities and tied in four.

Gary got all four of his votes at Sayre, and Monroney got all five of his at Stillwater.

The specific question asked in the polls was this: "Whom do you favor for the Democratic presidential nomination?"

An average of 20 Democrats were polled in each of the cities, except the more were checked in Oklahoma City and Tulsa because of their large population. A cross-section of men, women, farmers, businessmen, laborers, Negroes and professional men was obtained.

All the polling was completed prior to the announcement of President's operation.

There will be a number of booths in downtown Ruston for the sale of peaches, stressing the belief of growers that this year's prospects indicate a record peach harvest. The festival is being planned around this theme.

Visiting royalty already scheduled for attendance are:

makes total cash of $489,000. In all, cash on hand, pledges and goals set the college fund today amounts to more than two and one-half million dollars. Approximately 3,500 churches have donated to the college. Classes are to open in the fall of 1958 now planned.

Something unusual happened to the 1,000 June graduates of the University of Georgia. Each graduate was given one share of stock of the Meritt-Chapman & Scott Corp. The donor was Louis E. Wolfson who parlayed a Florida junk yard into a multi-million dollar business. He is president of the company. Saturday his stock closed at nearly $19 a share.

With each gift, Wolfson expressed it "As a token of my conviction of the worth wholeness of the American democratic system and the sincere hope for peace and decency."

A new law requires that a retiring governor state his actual financial status and also the incoming governor is required to make similar statement.

The past week, Governor Earl Long gave his net worth as $150,000. Retiring Gov. Robert Kennon listed net worth $132,000 which was $39,000 in excess of his worldly goods at the time he became governor.

Sales Management magazine is listing cities that are tops in the matter of census figures in Louisiana. Of course New Orleans leads with estimated population at 630,000. Shreveport's population was given as 164,000; Baton Rouge at 153,000 (in this case it is the population of the entire parish which is in the city limits).

Monroe seems not to be listed but our guess is that the Twin Cities should have close to 90,000 population. We may miss it but that is our guess.

F. O. Seymour, long time engaged in vocational lines of education is to retire this month and we feel that he can not easily be replaced at the Ouachita Valley Vocational school where he has labored long and faithfully since 1947, when he came from Lake Charles and McNeese State college faculty. Last summer at the Louisiana association conference held in Ruston he received a reward of which he is justly proud, that of Secretary of the organization.

He received his master's degree at George Peabody college and has further advanced vocational training at Northwestern, Louisiana State university, and Colorado A. and M. He is member of Iota Lambda Sigma, national honorary vocational fraternity.

We are sure that he will not just fold up even if retired. He will certainly find plenty to do even in retirement along educational lines.

It took about 30 minutes to catch a beautiful blue parakeet with green and white markings, which wandered into the yard of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hale, 1604 Island Drive, but it obviously will take a little longer than that to track down the owner of the bird. The parakeet is described as appearing to be well trained. The owner can claim him by calling 3-0578.

HOBOKEN, N.J., June 9 (UP)—Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles said Friday the United States will continue to work for world disarmament but "we must not let down our guard" until the Russians agree to a foolproof system of inspection.

Quarles made the statement in a speech following publication of Russia's latest proposal to President Eisenhower that the United States join in moves "ending the armaments race."

Air Force Seeks Radical Changes In Salary Scales

WASHINGTON, June 9 (UP)—Air Force leaders have asked Congress for "a radical change" in pay to halt losses of thousands of young officers pilots and skilled airmen technicians.

The proposal was made public today in the release of closed-door testimony by Lt. Gen. Emmett (Rosy) O'Donnell Jr., deputy chief of the Air Staff for Personnel, by the Senate Air Power Investigating subcommittee.

"One of the major reasons for our losses is the high pressure competition offered by a booming civilian economy," said the former West Point football coach and flying general of World War II and Korea.

"The Air Force is not now able to meet the competition of prosperity and the attractiveness of civilian life," O'Donnell added.

O'Donnell and other Air Force manpower experts reported a loss to civilian life of nearly one million trained airmen and officers since 1949.

Estimating basic minimum training costs for an airman at $2,500, O'Donnell said training costs alone for replacements have amounted to 2½ billion dollars, "and that is a conservative figure."

"When we lose him (a trained man) we have to spend $15,000 to get another man through four years, so if you compute it on that cost it would be in the neighborhood of 15 billions it has cost us," he added.

He estimated it costs $45,000 to put a pilot through basic training and another $50,000 through advanced flying for jets, or "in the neighborhood of $90,000 to $100,000 a pilot."

"We believe that a radical change is needed in the present across-the-board pay structure," he said without spelling out details.

Evelyn Nesbit Suffers Stroke

LOS ANGELES, June 9 (UP)—Evelyn Nesbit, the famed beauty of 50 years ago and a key figure in one of the most sensational murder trials of the era, suffered a cerebral stroke today.

Park View Hospital attendants described her condition as fair.

Miss Nesbit, 71, has been living alone in an apartment where she pursued a career as a sculptor and art instructor.

She was practically penniless until 20th Century-Fox bought the rights to her life story and made the movie "The Girl in The Red Velvet Swing."

It was in 1906 that her former husband, Harry K. Thaw, a millionaire playboy, shot and killed Stanford White, the nation's most noted architect.

Thaw, jealous of his wife's premarital romance with White, charged at his trial that White had "ruined" his wife before her marriage.

Miss Nesbit's testimony at the trial was credited with getting Thaw off with commitment to an asylum. Thaw died nine years ago at the age of 76.

Health Director Points To Chest X-Ray Importance

"Have you had a chest X-ray lately?" asks Dr. W. Carroll Summer, Ouachita Parish Health Unit.

"These X-rays are available to all residents of Ouachita parish," Dr. Summer continued.

"A study made reveals that women are more alert to the menace of communicable diseases than men. In many instances wives have prodded procrastinating husbands until they had an essential physical examination. Thus the presence of disease was revealed in time for them to have effective treatment," he adds.

The Mobile X-Ray Unit is scheduled for the dates and locations as shown below.

June 11-20 No. Third at Louisville Ave. (rear of store.)

June 21 a.m. Selig Mfg. Co., Thomas Avenue; p. m. corner Thomas Ave. and Jackson St.

June 22-25 Sears Town — Louisville Avenue.

June 26 — Foster Homes Housing project (Colored) Renwick Addition.

June 27 — Carver Homes (Colored) Texas Ave.

June 28-29 — Commercial Solvents, Sterling.

During the period June 4 through June 8-1675 employees of Olin-Mathieson Corporation were X-rayed. Results will be mailed to all those who took advantage of this service.

"Safeguard your health with a chest X-ray. Many lives have been saved in this way and it can be the means of saving many thousands more each year," Dr. Summer explained.

Women In Federation Act On Civic Projects; Eleven Million Enrolled

"Eleven million women organized and actively devoted to human welfare through local, regional and national civic projects," describes the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. John C. Kenton, of Mangham and president of the Fifth District federation, says that the story of her far-reaching group includes active service in education, health public welfare, prison reform, narcotic control and veterans affairs.

She explains that this does not include work done by the group toward better international relations, citizenship, conservation of natural resources, national defense and in the fine arts. Home-making, too, is an important realm of the association's activity. "Our last award is a tribute to a group of Americans who have made a vast and memorable contribution to our democracy," Dorothy Shaver, president of Lord and Taylor, New York City, said when she was about to present the 1955 American Design Award to the women's federation.

"Who but the clubwomen first fought for reforms we now regard as routine—better labor conditions, opportunities for vocational training, improved prison conditions? Who, forty years ago, began advocating the eight-hour day? Who, in 1896, started agitating for the international arbitration of disputes? Who have been demanding laws for forest and land conservation? Who are responsible for 85 per cent of all the libraries in the United States?"

"Yes, the history of their achievements is a record of democracy roots level. There is hardly a phase of our democratic system that has not felt the impact of their ceaseless efforts to build a better life."

The federation was granted a charter by the U.S. government in 1901 following its initial organization in 1889.

Mrs. Kenton, quite active and enthusiastic about her next two years in office, said the national charter states the purpose of the club association, "for educational, industrial, philanthropic, literary, artistic, and scientific culture, and to bring into communication with one another the various women's clubs throughout the world."

She explained, "We in the Fifth District—with clubs in all communities—now have our program of activity outlined for the coming months, and will launch many projects during the next week."

Stennis Warns VFW Reds Have 'Not Changed'

JACKSON, Miss., June 9 (AP)—Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.) today warned the Veterans of Foreign Wars that though Russia has changed on the diplomatic front, "she has not yet changed her goal of world domination."

Stennis addressed the annual statewide encampment of the VFW, attended by some 1,500 veterans.

The senator said the United States has "successfully called Russia's hand with military power."

"Right now, she dares not attack Europe or the United States. Her present new offensive which seeks allies and eventual conquest through alliance and economic aid may be more difficult to stop."

"She seeks to secure oil in the Middle East without firing guns," Stennis said he believes the new policy would fail. "But we cannot stand idly by," he said. "We must have counter moves in this field."

One method, he suggested, was an active military reserve program and universal military training.

He listed foreign aid as another method but called for its being established upon a loan, rather than a gift, basis.

"I have been shockingly disappointed in the administration of much of our foreign aid," he said. "We must continue a part of our military aid to countries in strategic locations, but this aid must be re-examined and re-appraised. It can and should be forthwith reduced."

City Playground Program To Open Monday Morning

The playground program, sponsored by the Monroe Recreation Department, will start Monday will be held at the following places for white children, Lexington school, Georgia Tucker, Sherrouse, Plum Street school, Lida Benton, Barkdull Paulk and George Breece Housing project.

Colored playgrounds will be held at Clark's Elementary school, Carroll High, Legion home on Powell, Texas Ave. Housing Project, Mt. Nebo school on Jackson and Bryant's Addition P.T.A. building on Reed Street. Parents are urged to send their children to the nearest playground.

A varied program has been worked out for the summer months with special events being held each Friday. Handicraft will also be a feature for the children. There is no charge being made for attendance on the playgrounds or for the handicraft material. The playground is open for all boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 16.

Despite President's Illness

Confidence In Nation's Economic Health Stable

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower's recent illness sent stock prices tumbling down this week as the market underwent its biggest one-day fall since Oct. 10. But confidence in the nation's economic health remained unshaken.

You didn't have to look far for signs that the economy was strong and lusty.

The Commerce Department reported that 65 million Americans had jobs last month—a record high for May. Wages and incomes were higher than ever. Retail trade continued to outpace the record sales of a year ago; even automobile sales, which had been lagging badly, showed signs of perking up.

"Consumers have jobs, they have money and they are buying," said the First National City Bank of New York. "Even though they have cut spending for certain products, in the aggregate they are spending more than ever before."

Business was spending more than ever before too. The Commerce Department predicted that business spending on new plant and equipment in the third quarter would hit a record annual rate of 36 1/2 billion dollars, a gain of nearly two billions over April-May-June. Harley Branch Jr., outgoing president of the Edison Electric Institute, forecast that the nation's privately owned power companies would double their generating capacity in the next ten years—at a cost of more than 40 billions. Westinghouse Electric Corp. said it expects to run its heavy equipment manufacturing plants at top speed in the next 18 months, filling orders for expansion in the steel, utility, paper and aluminum industries.

But if strong spots in the economy were getting stronger this week, some of the soft spots were getting softer. Farm equipment manufacturers announced new layoffs—2,500 by International Harvester on top of 1,250 laid off the week before. New textile shutdowns were reported. Price wars flared in the home appliance field; in Atlanta, Ga., General Electric vacuum cleaners listed at $69.95 were retailing at $36.88. Prices of several industrial commodities drifted lower.

Summing it all up, it was another week of mixed trends with some lines bowling along at a record clip and others in the doldrums.

Oil Companies Encourage American Youth To Study Engineering, Allied Work

HOUSTON, June 9 (AP)—More and more oil companies are joining other American industries in a campaign to encourage youngsters to become engineers and technicians.

Millions of dollars annually are being earmarked by industry for scholarship, fellowships and grants to students, teachers, colleges and universities.

An estimated 27,500 college students are to receive engineering degrees in the United States this year. Several surveys have indicated industry could absorb up to 40,000 without difficulty. The survey indicates the long-range problem is even more acute.

L. F. McCollum, president of Continental Oil Co., believes the United States, in meeting this problem, faces a challenge from Russia.

McCollum told recent graduates at the Colorado School of Mines Russia, according to the most reliable estimate, this year will graduate about 60,000 engineers, more than twice as many as in the United States.

"Russian leaders have for some time clearly recognized that science and technology play a vital part in the national productivity," McCollum said. "If Russia achieves its announced aim of becoming the dominant world power, Russia must raise its national productivity to a level higher than that of the United States. To do this, Russia must train and employ the services of thousands of engineers and scientists."

"It is unlikely the United States can train as many engineers as Russia can," he said. "The emphasis in his country must be on quality, not on numbers."

He added that statistics about the limited number of courses being offered on scientific and technical subjects in United States high schools are disheartening and disturbing.

"Every Russian high school graduate has received five years of training in physics, five years in biology, four years in chemistry, 10 years in mathematics and a year of astronomy," McCollum said.

"From Russian high school graduates with such training are selected the potential engineers and scientists who will receive state-directed college training at state expense. And it would be somewhat foolish to think that training of Russian engineers is inadequate at any level."

Recent surveys have indicated the percentage of United States high school students enrolling in pre-engineering courses has dropped sharply. For example, only four per cent of high school students now study physics, compared to about 20 per cent prior to World War I.

Shell Oil Co. is attacking the problem through granting fellowships to high school teachers. About 60 science and mathematics instructors will study under the fellowships at Stanford and Cornell. The objective is to encourage teachers to inspire youngsters toward scientific training.

Other oil companies with large programs for education grants include Socony Mobile, Standard Oil Co. (California), and Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey).

Weekly Stocks

Prices Stumble Sharply On News Of Ike's Illness

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower's illness completely dominated the stock market this week.

Selling on the news Friday knocked the market down in the most severe decline of the past eight months.

Now Wall Street is faced with a fully new reappraisal of its approach to stock market problems.

Actually, the Friday market was not a thing of gloom. For one thing, there wasn't the slightest indication of any wild dumping of stocks for any price they would fetch. Stockholders took a more sophisticated approach. Brokers said they set their price and then sold at that price. They also set their prices for buying and then bought. That very willingness to buy was the most bullish thing that came out of the Friday session.

The market opened moderately lower and then recovered a bit. The news bulletin that the President was being taken to Walter Reed Hospital evoked heavy selling, however, and set the stage for a later but less severe selling wave.

That put prices at their lowest level of the day, and buyers started to come in. Their demand boosted prices enough to wipe out more than half of the extreme loss of the day in less than 30 minutes of trading.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were General Motors up 1/4 at 42 1/2 on volume of 140,900 shares; Southern Production up 2 3/4 at 41; Houston Oil "stamped" unchanged at 4 1/2; Standard Oil (NJ) off 1 1/2 at 55 1/2; and American Telephone up 1/4 at 179.

DENTAL SCHOOL GRADUATE Max M. Funderburk, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Funderburk, Sterling, was graduated from Baylor University dental school Dallas, June 4, with a degree as doctor of dental surgery. He is scheduled to enter the air force in October. He is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School. His wife is the former Pat Reector of West Monroe. They have a daughter Joy-Lyn, nine-month-old.

Auto Bomb Case

Land Promoter Agrees To Take Detector Tests

BRADY, Tex., June 9 (UP)—B. R. Sheffield, a land promoter and leading figure in the Texas veterans land scandals, offered Saturday to take a lie detector test to clear himself of suspicion in the booby-trapping of lawyer Sam McCollum's station wagon.

McCollum, 37, whose condition looked desperate Friday when he was pried from the wreckage of the station wagon, was "resting well" Saturday and appeared to be steadily improving. His wife said he "has feeling in all his toes," even those of his right leg, which was broken.

Physicians were trying to let him rest so that he could talk to District Attorney Bill Allcorn and Ranger Capt. Gully Cowser of Junction. Allcorn and Cowser, it was learned, talked to McCollum for a few minutes Friday but there was no indication what they found out.

Sheffield, who is under 40 indictments in the land scandals offered to take a lie detector test after Allcorn questioned him for two hours and 17 minutes late Friday night and early Saturday. He said he thinks L. V. Ruffin, another defendant in the scandals, also ought to take a test.

When Ruffin was asked whether he was willing to take a lie detector test, he said he'd be glad to help Sheffield out. A newsman asked him whether he was saying he will take the test. McCollum was Ruffin's lawyer. He used to be Sheffield's lawyer.

"I don't know any reason why not, unless the lawyers don't want me to," Ruffin said. "I'll have to get in touch with the district attorney. That's all I can say right now."

Epperson (Ed) Waits, a 49-year-old mechanic from Miles, in Runnels county, was in jail, but apparently by his own choice and not because he was suspected of anything. After questioning him Friday night, Allcorn offered him a room in the jail.

Sheriff Luke Vogle disclosed Saturday that Waits had taken Allcorn up on his offer of a room. Vogle said the cell door was locked on Waits, but he would not go into details about Waits' connection with the investigation. The implication was that Waits was in protective custody.

Sheffield's offer to take a lie detector test was released in Austin. He said, in a prepared statement, that he was "shocked by the effort on the part of some low, ruthless killer to cold bloodedly murder Sam McCollum III."

The statement also said: "News reports quote L. V. Ruffin as claiming threats of physical violence against himself as well as Mr. McCollum; and he is also quoted as having requested 'protection.' He does not say who made the threats nor does he say who it is that he needs protection from. The same stories mention my name and troubles."

Cotton Futures Move Narrowly In Week's Trades

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—Cotton futures prices held to a narrow range this week and closed mixed.

Active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange, finished at prices ranging from 45 cents a bale higher to 35 cents lower than at the close of the week before.

Downward pressures were exerted by a number of factors, of which the most potent was uncertainty among traders as to the probable impact the government's cotton surplus export program would have in futures trading. Also on the bearish side were reports of favorable weather from the cotton belt, and word of additional mill curtailments.

Offerings were absorbed for the most part through short covering and profit taking. Traders meanwhile were awaiting results of the opening of bids on June 12 on cotton to be sold abroad under the Commodity Credit Corp. would accept a minimum offer somewhere in the neighborhood of 25 1/2 cents a pound, basis middling 15-16 inch, average location.

Cotton exports for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the New York Cotton Exchange service bureau at 70,000 bales, vs. 24,000 the week before and 47,000 in the like week last year. This brought the season's total through Tuesday to 1,812,000 bales vs. 3,149,000 at the same time last season.

Eastland Sees No U. S. Limits On Cotton Export

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) said today he believes there is no reason for fears the Agriculture Department will put a quantity limitation on its sales of cotton for export.

Eastland discussed the department's cotton export program set up as a result of the new farm act.

The act requires the department to dispose of surplus cotton stocks on the foreign market to regain U.S. export markets.

Prices are to be competitive and the act contemplates sale of about five million bales.

The department in an announcement concerning its program said upland cotton would be made available for export without quantity limitations "for the time being."

This phrasing, Eastland said, led to some fears that a quantity limitation might be imposed after the first or second sale.

"I feel quite sure that such is not the case," he said. "It is my belief that no limits on the quantity of cotton sold will be imposed until the pipelines around the world are filled.

"Furthermore, such limits should then be imposed only if world cotton prices are drastically reduced far below the 25 1/2-cent port price at which the CCC accepted bids under the million bales program (early this year) or if U.S. cotton exports during the year beginning Aug. 1 approached the export goal of five million bales."

These conditions, he said, could not arise for some time.

Eastland said questions also had arisen concerning the price at which bids for the export cotton would be accepted.

The act, he said, specifically requires that for the marketing year starting Aug. 1 bids must be accepted down to 25 1/2 cents a pound. As to prices between now and Aug. 1, Eastland said he believed it clear that bids must be accepted down to 25 1/2 cents for that time also.

"The reason is that . . . bids may be accepted prior to Aug. 1 but the cotton cannot be delivered until after Aug. 1 and therefore the completion of the sale falls within the cotton marketing year beginning Aug. 1," he said.

Californian Posts Fat Plus 50 Score At New Rochelle

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., June 9 (AP)—Dead-panned Gene Littler, putting erratically but hitting straight sub-par round Saturday with a four-under 34-34-68 to continue his runaway in the Round Robin golf tournament with a fat 50 points.

Littler, with rounds of 69-69-68-68 on the par 72 course, earned another 16 points Saturday in this match-medal tournament where each player matches cards on a plus and minus basis with other members of his foursome.

Chunky Ted Kroll of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., came through with a 33-32-67 but was only able to pick up 14 points. But that let him hold on to second place with plus-32-18 points behind the young pacesetter from Palm Springs, Calif.

Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., shot a 35-34-69 to gain seven points and move into third place with plus 16.

In Sunday's final round, Bolt will be paired with Littler, British Open champion Peter Thomson and burly Mike Souchak. Littler will be shooting for Bobby Locke's tournament record of plus 66.

Littler picked up his 16 points today against Lloyd Mangrum's 36-33-69; a 73 for Art Walls of Pocomo Manor, Pa.; and a 78 by Bob Rosburg which dropped the young San Franciscan from third place as he lost 24 points.

Kroll, despite his five-under-par round, earned only 14 points because of a hot foursome in which Masters champion Jackie Burke of Kiamas Lake, N.Y., shot a 70, Thomson a 72 and Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., a 73.

Bolt moved up from fifth to third place with a plus 16 as he picked up seven points for a 35-34-69 against a 70 for Freddie Haas of New Orleans and 72s for Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., and PGA champion Doug Ford of New York.

Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, bounced all the way up to fourth place with 15, just one point behind Bolt, as he shot a 36-32-68, good for 12 points against a 71 for Sam Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., a 72 for Souchak and a 73 for former British Open champion Henry Cotton.

Thus the standings, with one round to play, were: Littler plus 50, Kroll plus 32, Bolt plus 16, Finsterwald plus 15, Burke plus eight, Maxwell plus three, and Sneed plus two.

On the minus side were Thomson, down two points; Mangrum and Haas, minus four, Rosburg minus nine, Souchak minus 10, Hawkins minus 11, Wall minus 12, Ford minus 32 and Cotton minus 42.

Score will rejoin Cleveland Shortly

BALTIMORE, June 9 (AP)—Herb Score, ace pitcher for the Cleveland Indians, will be released Monday from the hospital where he has been confined since Wednesday with a stomach disorder, Dr. Erwin Mayer announced today.

Score was taken ill Tuesday night while on the sidelines during a game against the Baltimore Orioles. Dr. Mayer, the Oriole physician, diagnosed his trouble as severe inflammation of the lower colon.

Score will rejoin the Indians in Boston.

A record number of 7-10 splits (136) were made during the American Bowling Congress tournament at Rochester, N. Y. this year. The previous record was 70 set in 1955.

STANTON, Del., June 9 (AP)—Calumet farm's Fabius went down to one of the most stunning defeats in Delaware Park history today when Wilmington-owned Ricci Tavi, a 22-to-1 longshot, defeated the son of Citation by six lengths in the $50,300 Leonard Richards Stakes.

Mrs. C. B. Fischbach's Frosty Mr. barely lost the second spot to Fabius by a nose, with track president Donald P. Ross's Countermand a head back in fourth.

It was Ricci Tavi's first stakes victory and was worth $37,400—for the Christiana stable colt, which, under jockey Eldon Nelson, was timed in 1:50 4-5 for the mile and an eighth distance, compared to the track record of 1:48.

The winner paid $45.80, $7.80 and 4.00. Fabius, the 2-to-5 favorite who won the Preakness and finished second to Needles in the Kentucky Derby paid $2.40 and $2.20 with Frosty Mr. $1.30 for third.

Because of the top heavy play on Fabius there was a minus show pool of $4,790.

Fabius, ridden by Willie Hartack, the nation's winningest jockey, broke out of the gate right behind the fast-charging Ricci Tavi. He took command going around the first turn and appeared headed for an easy win.

But he didn't count on Ricci Tavi's surge at the quarter pole, and the winner rushed by Fabius as though he were standing still. Frosty Mr. almost pulled a similar stunt, closing fast in the stretch.

Hand Fracture Spoiling Patterson's Title Shot

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—A broken bone in Floyd Patterson's right hand may rule out a big money match with Archie Moore in September for the world heavyweight championship.

Patterson went to St. Clare's Hospital for X-rays today that gave positive confirmation to the bad news that took the edge off last night's 12-round split decision over Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson.

"There is a definite fracture of the fourth metacarpal bone in the right hand," said Dr. Vincent Nardiello of the New York state athletic commission. "He will be in my office Wednesday for another examination. We should know more then about how long he will be out of action. It could be for quite a while depending on how much callous forms in the first three or four weeks.

Patterson, the 21-year-old former Olympic champion, didn't reveal his injury when Dr. Nardiello visited his dressing room after the bout. "He didn't even say his hand bothered him," said Dr. Nardiello. Later he mentioned a pain in his wrist to Dr. Alexander Schiff of the commission, whose examination first revealed the fracture.

"I felt something after the sixth round but when you're hot you don't think about such things," said Patterson.

Dr. Schiff said last night in his opinion the right hand "might not be a punching hand for three months." In any event, a Yankee Stadium bout between Patterson and Moore, as planned by the International Boxing Club for something between Sept. 17 and 27, appeared to be in doubt.

Julius Helfand, chairman of the commission, said last night he would give every consideration to a request to recognize a Moore-Patterson winner as the heavyweight champion, succeeding the retired Rocky Marciano.

In the absence of Jim Norris, I.B.C. president, Harry Markson, the club's managing director, said future plans would be made early in the week when Norris meets with Charlie Johnston, Moore's manager.

Johnston arrived home today by plane from London where Archie successfully defended his light-heavy crown against Yolande Pompey. Moore is scheduled to arrive tomorrow. The gamblers already have made Moore an 8-5 favorite over Patterson.

"Archie Moore is the world heavyweight champion right now," proclaimed Johnston without benefit of commission backing. "We might fight James J. Parker in Montreal in July. We have a good offer and are very much interested."

"The people in London said he was the greatest fighter ever seen in England. He'd handle either one of those novices (Patterson or Jackson) with ease. I think Jackson would have made the more colorful opponent but we'll fight anybody as long as the price is right. We beat the boy (Joey Maxim) who beat Patterson and everybody beats Jackson."

Mrs. Hagge Back At Head Of Pack In Women's Golf

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., June 9 (AP)—Mrs. Marlene Bauer Hagge of Asheville, N.C., established a new competitive record of 286 for 72 holes of play as she gained a lead of 19 points Saturday in the fourth annual Triangle Round Robin tournament at the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club.

According to officials of the Ladies Professional Golf Association, the 71-71-74-70 performance of the 22-year-old putting marvel is a stroke better than the best previous mark recorded.

Playing with deadly precision over the 6,065-yard course, Mrs. Hagge, who has won three tournaments already this season and seems well on the way to winning her fourth, piled up a total of 48 points by the conclusion of Saturday's play, in which she shot a 70.

The one rival who appears to have a chance to catch her is Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis., whose brilliant 288 for the 72 holes leaves her with a plus 29 total.

On a points basis, Louise Suggs had plus 19, Patty Berg plus 18, Beverly Hanson plus 17, Mary Lena Faulk plus 16, Betty Jameson plus 11 and Bonnie Randolph plus 6.

Creed To Defend Title This Week In State Tourney

LAFAYETTE, La., June 9 (AP)—Defending champion Clifford Ann Creed and most of Louisiana's other top women golfers will be here Monday for the start of the annual state women's tournament.

Monday's play will be limited to qualifying. The first round of match play begins Tuesday. Finals in all divisions are scheduled for Friday.

Miss Creed, from Opelousas, won the title last year while a senior in high school.

If she repeats as champion, she will have to whip a field that includes Wanda Sanches of Baton Rouge, now a student at Florida State University and one of the standouts in women's golf this year.

Other highly regarded entries include Mrs. Robert Monsted, four-time New Orleans Country Club champion; Mrs. John W. Holt, greave of New Orleans, winner of the St. John, City Park and Colonial Club titles in 1955; Mrs. T. L. Norris of Shreveport, winner of the 1956 Ark-La-Tex golf tournament, and Mrs. Don Rogge of Shreveport, twice winner of the Palmetto Country Club title.

Dick Whitman former Brooklyn Dodger outfielder, is managing the San Jose Josox in the Class C California League.

Swaps Thunders To World Mark; Takes Argonaut

INGLEWOOD, Calif., June 9 (AP)—Swaps raced to a new world's record for a mile Saturday as he captured the $50,000 added Argonaut Handicap at Hollywood Park in 1:33 1-5.

At the finish Swaps had a lead of about a length and a quarter over Bobby Brocato but he was ranking in hand despite the time. The mark cut two-fifths of a second off the world's record set in 1950 at Golden Gate by the great Citation.

Jockey Willie Shoemaker made no mistakes aboard Swaps this time. Taking the great California colt out on top from the break, fighting off Bobby Brocato's challenge at the head of the stretch and then going on to his easy win.

Porterhouse, which scored an upset win over Swaps two weeks ago in the $100,000 California, did not catch the great runner napping at the wire this time and Porterhouse had to be content with third and Poona II was fourth in the six horse field.

It was the third world's mark to fall to Swaps. He previously had set the records for a mile and 70 yards and a mile and a sixteenth to which he added the mile mark.

LATIN AMERICAN CHAMPS BUENOS AIRES, June 9 (AP)—Eduardo Lausse of Argentina knocked out Chile's Humberto Iozaya in the third round tonight to win the South American middleweight boxing title.

I offered my candidacy for the important office of Commissioner of Finance and Utilities, as an INDEPENDENT candidate, not having the organized support of any group or of any political organization. I neither asked, nor received, the support of any professional politicians or any faction, nor from the so-called political bosses. I carried on a clean and honorable campaign as an independent, having uppermost in my mind that if the good people of the City of Monroe would honor me by electing me one of their commissioners, that I would be free to map out and carry through a program for the betterment of all the people; and without political obligations to any one.

The City of Monroe has recently experienced a very bitter political campaign, one which has divided the people and has turned friend against friend and neighbor against neighbor. If I had known that this condition would arise, I would not have offered my candidacy for any political office. I have lived in Monroe most all of my life and I have only the best of wishes for the people of Monroe and fondest desires to see my city grow and prosper under conditions of friendship and peacefulness.

It is my sincere belief that if I continue in this campaign that animosities and ill feeling will be further engendered by certain groups and that the people of Monroe will be further divided.

I wish to thank all of those fine people who volunteered their services and gave so liberally of their time and worked for my cause. I shall always remember their kindness, and to them I say, "Thank you from the bottom of my heart."

I made no commitment to anyone before announcing for office and in withdrawing, I do so with a clear conscience.

Believing as I do, that the best interest of Monroe will be served by my withdrawal as a candidate in the runoff primary, I respectfully withdraw as a candidate.

Most Sincerely,

JOHN L. LUFFEY

Dodgers Cop 8-5 Decision In 10th Over Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, June 9 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, playing the kind of baseball which made them world champions, today defeated the Cincinnati Redlegs, 8 to 5, in a 10-inning thriller.

They survived a typical Redleg late-inning rally to break the game wide open and win their first game of the season in six tries from the local club.

The Redlegs retained first place in the National League despite the defeat, since St. Louis won over Pittsburgh, 8 to 3.

Until the eighth inning, veteran Sal Maglie had turned back the Cincinnati sluggers with four hits. Then Ted Kluszewski hit a grand slam homer with two out. Ed Bailey, pinch hitting, tied the game in the Cincinnati half of the ninth with his second homer in two days off Labine.

Then Brooklyn came roaring back to win easily in the 10th. Carl Furillo singled with one out, Gil Hodges doubled and Roy Campanella was purposely walked, filling the bases.

J. Robinson batted for Charley Neal and brought Furillo home on his fly to Gus Bell in center. Labine singled Hodges home, and Gino Cimoli, who had gone to left field in the eighth, singled, scoring Campy. That was the ball game.

Auto Racer Clint McHugh Killed In Arkansas Tryout

LEHI, Ark., June 9 (AP)—Clint McHugh, a veteran automobile race driver, was killed today when his stock car crashed during time trials for the 250-mile NASCAR Grand National Championship race.

McHugh, 28, was driving a 1955 Oldsmobile when it went out of control on the third turn of the mile and a half dirt track.

The car, travelling at an estimated 90 miles an hour, slipped once hit the guard rail, and plunged over an embankment into a lake 50 feet below.

McHugh was thrown clear. Three spectators plunged into the lake and pulled him ashore. He died of multiple injuries at a hospital a short time later.

A native of Des Moines, Iowa, McHugh had been living recently in Biloxi, Miss. Survivors include his wife; a son, Clinton, Jr., 20 months; and a daughter, Kathie, 8 weeks.

It was the first fatal accident at the three-year old Memphis-Arkansas speedway. The championship race is set for tomorrow.

BOXING KANGAROO—From Australia comes "Pogo," the boxing kangaroo, for a special exhibition match at Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday night. The kangaroo is on the same card with "countryman" Frank Hurley, Australian heavyweight wrestling champ, who meets Jack Curtis, Louisiana heavy king, in a main event mat scramble.

Curtis, Hurley In Relay Feature; Kangaroo Shows

Athletes of two continents, man and beast, are featured on a "Kids' Night" program at Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday night with a tag team match including Australian heavyweight wrestling champ Frank Hurley and Louisiana's state heavy king, Jack Curtis, along with a special event in which an Australian boxing kangaroo shows his wares.

Curtis, the former world's light heavyweight champ from Vicksburg who now campaigns as a heavyweight, will be teamed with Al Zasz, St. Louis, Mo., for the relay main event against the threat of the Golden Terror, newest masked matman to show in these parts.

"Pogo," the boxing kangaroo, also has his place on the card, and the coming of "Pogo," expected to be a big favorite with the small fry, has resulted in Promoter Kallio declaring it "Kids' Night" and setting up special prices for the children.

Kallio said all children under 12 years of age will be admitted for a special price of 50 cents, half the usual general admission ticket. The Curtis-Zasz vs. Hurley-Golden Terror tag main event will be over a 90-minute time limit distance, two falls to win. Two one-fall preliminaries will serve to start the night's program at 8:15 o'clock.

White Hose Ride Over Red Sox On Wilson 7-Hitter

BOSTON, June 9 (AP)—Veteran Jim Wilson, frustrating the Red Sox with a knuckler and a slow curve, kept Chicago in third place in the American League today with a seven-hit, 8-0 victory over Boston.

The triumph was Wilson's eighth of the season against only two losses. It equaled the best year's performance for the 34-year-old right hander in his 10th major league campaign.

Wilson had an 8-2 record with the Milwaukee Braves in 1954. It also put him two-thirds of the way toward his best winning years in the majors—12-14 with the old Boston Braves in '52 and 12-18 with Baltimore last year.

Sanders Bounced In Semi-Windup Of French Event

PARIS, June 9 (AP)—America's last hope of winning the French amateur golf championship was doused Saturday when Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, Fla., hit a poor approach shot on the 19th hole and was beaten in the tournament semifinals by Franco Beville of Italy.

Beville, 34-year-old Italian amateur champion, will play France's six-time titleholder Henri De LaMaze Sunday in a 36-hole final. De LaMaze gained the title round with a 2 and 1 semifinal triumph over 1-year-old Gunnar Carlander of Sweden.

The French Amateur tournament thus will be without an American finalist for the first time since 1950. The Yanks also will return home without either the French or the British Amateur championships. John Beharrell of England won the British title last Saturday.

DeLaMaze will be favored Sunday to win his native amateur crown for the third straight year and for the seventh time in the past 10 tournaments.

Three Americans were eliminated in the morning quarterfinals. Gene Andrews of Pacific Palisades, Calif., a former U. S. Public Links champion, was defeated by Beville, 4 and 3; Col. J. Wilson Johnston of Portland, Ore., lost to Sanders, 6 and 5; and Jack Penrose of Miami, Fla., was edged by Carlander on the 19th hole. De LaMaze advanced with a 1 up victory over H. G. Bentley of England.

33 Hits Feature Battle As Tribe Victorious, 15-8

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—Cleveland clubbed the New York Yankees behind to hand the league leaders a crushing 15-8 defeat that sliced their first place margin to 2 1/2 games.

Before the carnage was over the two clubs had scored a total of 23 runs on 33 hits and six errors in three hours and 47 minutes before a fine turnout of 31,419 fans. The time consumed was only five minutes short of the major league record for a nine-inning game.

Bud Daley, fourth Cleveland pitcher who faced only two men in a brief relief stint in the sixth, was the winner. The defeat was hung on Tom Morgan, who absorbed the brunt of a four-run assault in the seventh.

Chico Carrasquel chipped in with what started late to overcome a five-run Yankee lead and left the battered Yankee staff gasping for air. It was the Yankees' fifth loss in seven games with the sixth, the Indians sent 11 men to the plate and tied the score with a five-run outburst. Vic Wertz started it with his 11th homer. Two walks, singles by Jim Busby, Earl Averill, Chico Carrasquel and Al Smith, plus Andy Carey's second throwing error of the day, did the chief damage. Averill's single was a short fly to left, badly misjudged by Bob Cerv.

After Edve Robinson's pinch homer in the sixth regained the lead for New York, the Tribe unloaded on Tom Morgan and Bob Grimm for four in the seventh. Singles by Colapinto, pinch hitter Preston Ward, Carrasquel and Wertz, a hit batsman and an error by Gil McDougald put Cleveland ahead to stay.

Adding insult to injury in the eighth, Cleveland squeezed home a run on Bobby Avila's perfect bunt with the bases loaded, and boosted their run total to 15 with Smith's two-run single and Wertz's sacrifice fly.

Senator Russell Seeks Further Heavy Cuts In American Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower's embattled foreign aid bill ran into new trouble today when Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) called for "another billion dollar" slash in the program.

The House chopped $1,000,000,000 out of the $4,900,000,000 bill this week, despite efforts by administration supporters in both houses to stem the tide. Final showdown votes are due in the House Monday.

Russell, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee which will pass on actual funds to carry out the program later, said this is not enough.

"It ought to be reduced another billion dollars," he told a reporter. Russell's Democratic colleague from Georgia, Chairman George of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, lined up with the administration.

George said he personally favors restoring "about 500 million dollars of the House cut, with most of this to go to the European military aid."

George conceded this faces an uphill battle in the Senate, saying: "There is some sentiment to cut even deeper than the House did."

The administration asked 760 millions of new funds for European military aid, but the House cut this back nearly 300 millions.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), a ranking GOP member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is expected to lead the administration effort to restore both military and economic funds in the Senate.

Another administration supporter, Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) described the House cut as "too deep."

"I believe the foreign aid program is an essential part of our national security," he said. "We must authorize an amount sufficient to conduct this phase of our security program."

George has asked the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to begin closed-door voting in the big bill Wednesday.

Martin Assails Dictatorship Of Governor Long

BATON ROUGE, June 9 (AP)—Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr. today accused Gov. Earl K. Long of running a dictatorship in his bid to abolish voting machines and strip Martin of his control over the state insurance department.

"A Long-backed bill was approved in a Senate committee this week which would take the insurance department away from Martin and permit Long to name a new commissioner of insurance. Another administration bill, up for a vote in the House Monday, would abolish voting machines in precincts with 200 or fewer registered voters and make machines optional in precincts with 201 to 300 voters.

"I don't believe that there is a reasonable minded person in Louisiana who is not convinced that Earl Long wants to get rid of voting machines in this state," Martin said.

Martin made his attack in an address over radio stations all over Louisiana, while legislators were resting over the weekend.

He said Long told the people that the insurance industry wanted of the insurance department revamped.

"He gave the big lie to the public and said the bill is an insurance bill," Martin said. "Yet, every single industry representative that appeared at Senate hearings wanted the bill sponsored by Sen. Henry Lacaze of Opelousas killed."

Blonde Charges Westinghouse's Money Was Gift

DENVER, June 9 (AP)—A blue-eyed blonde sued for $200,000 she allegedly obtained illegally from George Westinghouse Jr., 73, son of the man who founded the industry, said today the money and securities were a "gift."

"I'm no gold digger," said Patricia Pierce, 42, Denver. "I could have married him at any time since 1916. He asked me at least once every year since then. I'm an old maid and can't change my ways."

A suit filed in Dist. Court yesterday by attorneys for Westinghouse's estate charges that Miss Pierce "procured and obtained" that much from Westinghouse, ruled mentally incompetent last July 11.

"The gift was no spur of the moment thing," Miss Pierce, a former testatrix, said. "I've known his family since 1922 when I attended a private school at Tucson with his two oldest daughters, Agnes and Violet."

Miss Pierce manages a rooming house now, and said she lives off the dividends of the securities Westinghouse gave her, plus the rooming-house income.

She said she never asked Westinghouse for anything, adding that in January of 1955 "I wrote him from Texas that he was sending the securities to my bank."

She said Westinghouse visited her at various times in Denver after his wife died in 1942. Westinghouse now is confined to a mental hospital in Victoria, B.C.

Offshore Wildcat Explosion May Cost $1 Million

ABBEVILLE, La., June 9 (AP)—An offshore wildcat oil test which blew out of control will cause a loss of about one million dollars, company officials estimated today.

The Union Oil Co. of California No. 341 Federal Lease, about 10 miles from the Pecan Island Field, blew out Thursday night when the drill bit hit the top of a gas sand at 11,435 feet. Drilling personnel housed in an LST anchored to the platform, escaped injury. The well did not catch fire.

The loss estimate included the rig and other drilling equipment. Myron Kinley of Houston, Tex., flew here to direct operations to control the well. Company officials said no attempts could be made until Monday or Tuesday to cap the well.

French And Rebel Battles Continue In North Algeria

ALGIERS, Algeria, June 9 (AP)—French troops tightened a circle about three rebel nests in Algeria today, but rebel bombs and guns roared in the major cities at their rear.

Well over a score of men and women were killed yesterday and today in an outbreak of rebel terrorism spreading from this city eastward to Bone, 50 miles from the Tunisian frontier. At least 30 persons were injured by a series of bombs thrown in the streets of Bone, Constantine and Batna.

But far heavier tolls were inflicted by the French on rebel bands they have encircled in three widely separated areas. These are sweeping operations designed to free key territories from rebel control so that "Algerian affairs officers" can move in to restore confidence of the natives in French administration.

To the west near the Moroccan frontier, 80 rebels were killed, 21 taken prisoner and a whole area taken again under French control. Small ships landed marines along the coast to reinforce two infantry battalions which had been engaged in a four-day pincer operation.

To the east near the Tunisian frontier, French troops launched a new raid during the night, killed 23 rebels, captured 15, and continued tightening an encirclement of the area.

After a feint made to indicate the French had withdrawn from an area 55 miles east of Algiers, new troops were rushed in to complete a roundup aided by helicopters.

Results of the four-day "Operation Basque" in this area were reported as 66 rebels killed, 46 prisoners, and 225 others arrested.

Negro Family Exiled By Ohio Returns To Dixie

LIVINGSTON, Ala., June 9 (AP)—A Negro woman and her eight dependents who were forced to leave Cleveland, Ohio, because they were not eligible for state relief here, returned home today.

The family was sent to the home of an older daughter of the woman until a welfare hearing June 21. Probate Judge Wilbur Dearman scheduled the hearing to determine the future of the family.

The hearing is to be an informal hearing among Martha Winslow, 46, her estranged husband, James, and welfare authorities. Cleveland Judge Albert Woldman, over the protests of the mother, ordered the family sent back to Alabama because the woman could not support her family there, and they didn't qualify for relief aid under Ohio law.

The mother, who has given birth to 14 children—10 of whom are still living—said she wants to leave them with the older daughter, return to Cleveland and send money for their support. One of the children is a grandchild.

The mother said she went to Cleveland four years ago because she couldn't support her children in Alabama. She said she took the children to Ohio last October because she didn't want them to grow up in the South.

She said she has been separated from her husband, five years, but has not obtained a divorce because "it costs $90."

Meanwhile, an Opelika, Ala., construction firm executive said he would be willing to pay the living expenses of the Negro woman and the eight children if they would stay in Cleveland.

I. J. Scott Sr., telegraphed the Cleveland Press:

"Don't force the woman and family to return to Alabama. This is discrimination against her. I will personally pay her relief bill until she is able to qualify in Ohio."

Ellender Reports State To Receive Millions In Bill

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La.) estimated today that under the Senate highway bill Louisiana would receive some 62 million dollars of federal funds during the next five years for primary, secondary and urban roads.

This amount matched dollar for dollar by the state, he said, would mean a total expenditure of $13,200,000 on these roads between July 1, 1956 and June 30, 1961.

In addition, he said, the Senate bill would provide a total of 407 million dollars for work on the interstate highway system in Louisiana during the next 13 years.

To match this the state would put up $45,400,000.

Ellender said he had preferred an allocation formula provided in the House road bill because under it Louisiana would receive an additional 119 million dollars.

A House-Senate conference committee might yet agree on the House formula, he said.

He said his principal objection is that the program authorizes only two interstate highways across Louisiana, both east-west.

He said there should be a north-south interstate road.

KEEPS WATCH—Mrs. Sam McCollum II wipes her husband's brow as she keeps watch over him at the hospital in Brady, Tex. McCollum was critically injured when his station wagon exploded as he turned on the ignition. McCollum's testimony helped send former Texas land commissioner Bascom Giles to the penitentiary. He was also scheduled to be a key witness in the trial of B. R. Sheffield, Brady land dealer, in connection with the veterans land cases. McCollum was in critical condition with leg and internal injuries. (AP Wirephoto)

Frontal Assault On Supreme Court Asked In Virginia

RICHMOND, Va., June 9 (AP)—State Sen. E. O. McCue suggested today that the Legislature assume direct control of Virginia's public schools and refuse "point blank" to comply with the Supreme Court's desegregation decision.

McCue said he intended to introduce legislation at the upcoming special session to carry out his proposal.

He said he didn't think the Supreme Court would "try to take on" the Legislature, "but if it does we simply won't comply."

The non-compliance answer would be given said McCue, any time a federal court directed Virginia or any locality therein to permit white and Negro pupils to attend the same school.

McCue said members of the Legislature could not be jailed because they are immune from arrest while a session is in progress.

Gov. Thomas B. Stanley announced earlier in the week he intended to call the lawmakers in session within 90 days to consider anti-integration legislation.

Under the McCue proposal, school board members would be made employees of the Legislature and handle details of school administration. Money for state operation for the schools, said McCue, could be raised through a sales tax.

Triplets Remain In Fair Condition After Transfusion

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—Prematurely born triplets remained in fair condition today at Mount Sinai Hospital where doctors are trying to eliminate RH-positive blood factors by transfusions.

The first born, a boy, had his third complete change of blood today. The two girls had had two complete changes.

City health officials said the chance of one triplet being born with this condition was one in 4½ million and the chance of all three was "astronomical."

The triplets were born Thursday night to Mr. and Mrs. John Peyton, New Milford, N.J. They were born with RH-positive blood coated with their mother's negative antibodies, a condition usually fatal in premature infants.

Doctors are trying to eliminate the RH-positive factors by changing their entire blood supply. Several transfusions daily may be kept their bodies from producing the dangerous cells, doctors said.

Each complete transfusion requires a little less than a third of a pint of blood for each infant.

Father Killed In Same Instant As Daughter Is Born

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 9 (AP)—Death came to a San Antonio father and life began for his daughter at the same instant in the smashed wreckage of an automobile early today.

Police said Mrs. Carmen Alonzo, 25, apparently gave birth to the child as she was tossed through the air by the impact of a collision which killed her husband, Esilios, 34, shortly before 2 a.m.

Mrs. Alonzo and the infant were badly injured. Police expressed belief that Alonzo, a school custodian, was rushing his wife to a hospital for the birth of the child.

Two other daughters were being cared for by neighbors.

Alonzo's car and a trucktrailer collided at a busy intersection.

Long Apologizes

being a preacher's son and voting with the racetracks," Long asserted. "If I said anything to hurt his feelings, I apologized."

Smith had expressed quick resentment immediately after Long's remarks to the Ways and Means committee this week.

But this time, Long said in a statement "Rep. Smith is a fine, honorable fellow, and has just as much right to his convictions as I have to mine."

Smith, Ways and Means chairman under former Gov. Robert Kennon, was a top sponsor of the constitutional amendment approved by the voters April 17—and vigorously opposed by Long—requiring a two-thirds legislative vote for any tax raises.

While the governor has shifted to soft talk for the moment, the real key to his legislative power—and the same applies for any governor—is his control of the money bills.

About 13 to 16 million dollars will be available for the special requests. The governor holds the whiphand with his veto.

In every administration, the governor can count on passage of most of his major proposals because of that secret weapon—the pressure of a gubernatorial decision on themoney bills.

No appropriation bill for members will move through the Legislature until later in the session, after the vote tests on Long's tax raise bills.

When the House appropriations committee turns loose the 341 million dollars general appropriations bill, it will take up the legislators' pet cash bills. And that is when they'll start swarming to the appropriations committee like bears after a cache of honey.

Long said he was sorry for his remarks about Rep. Lloyd Teekell, Rapides Parish, were too critical when he complained to a committee Teekell was always "wanting to put off, put off, when we haven't got time."

And the chief executive emphasized "there is no breach between me and the New Orleans delegation."

Long apparently had trod on the New Orleans toes earlier this week. It was the vote switch by Old Regular members of the big New Orleans House delegation that helped pass a mandatory runoff bill in the House despite administration opposition.

The floor vote on the runoff legislation came right after Long had sniped at the Old Regulars during committee debate on his sulphur tax increase bill.

During the debate in Ways and Means, Long had questioned the interest of the Old Regulars in the sulphur bill, after Rep. L. T. Vivien Jr., and Old Regular leader, had attempted to trim the tax with an amendment.

"I think Rep. Vivien, who offered that amendment, is one of the most honest men in the Legislature," Long insisted today. "He is straight as a die."

"I consider him just as much a part of my organization, if I have any, as I do the Old Regulars."

While the governor moved to heal ruffled feelings, he will have trouble on his pet bill to trim the number of voting machines, public criticism is the reason he will have difficulty. It is reaching legislators from back home.

The bill comes up as special order Monday morning, meaning it will be the first measure called up for a floor vote. Long has been silent about amendments he will offer, to make it more palatable. The best legislative bet is that he will yank out the provisions about doing away with vote machines in precincts with less than 200 voters and keep in his proposal to set up a vote machine board. Long wants to take away the vote machine custodianship from secretary of state Wade O. Martin Jr.

The governor also will encounter

Adenauer, Brentano To Visit In Italy

BONN, June 9 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano will pay an official state visit to Rome July 2-4.

SEOUL, June 9 (AP)—The Russians are drumming up tourist business in India. Mercury travels, an Indian tourist agency, has entered an agreement with Intourist, the Soviet travel agency, and is advertising a 47-day—or shorter—tour of Russia and Europe. Intourist will pay part of the cost. The Russians also promise that Soviet tourists will visit India.

Taxes are the big issues in this session, with administration measures awaiting a decision that could mean a tap on every pocketbook. Here is the House tax schedule:

1. Rep. Angelle, Long's Ways and Means chairman, said a House floor vote will be called Monday on the administration's tripled sulphur levy.

2. Ways and Means also on Monday will get a substitute bill for decision, revising the 27-million-dollar boost in the gas gathering tax to fit the administration's desire to collect the new tax but give refunds to Louisiana industry.

3. The Louisiana Municipal Assn.'s three-point tax program, favored by Long, will be brought up for Ways and Means action Monday.

4. The same committee, which already has voted three-point for Long's sulphur tax boost and race-track tax increase, Tuesday will tackle Long's proposal to double the timber tax.

The big LMA program, awaiting its turn to add new taxes, calls for: a 40-cent increase in the liquor levy of $1.58 a gallon, a constitutional amendment allowing cities to raise the seven-mill property tax ceiling to 10 mills, and a right of cities to levy a two per cent tax on gross revenues of local utilities.

While the forces of opposition mounted in a buildup against new taxes, Long warned his political leaders—his special counsel—will have no influence with him.

Long said some of his top lieutenants, who are not members of the state administration, have been picking up attorneys' fees.

Stock Car Race Veteran Killed

LEHI, Ark., June 9 (AP)—Clint McHugh, a veteran automobile race driver, was killed today when his stock car crashed during trials for the 250-mile Nascar grand national championship race.

McHugh, 28, was driving a 1956 Oldsmobile when it went out of control on the third turn of the mile and a half dirt track.

The car, travelling at an estimated 80 miles an hour, flipped once, hit the guard rail, and plunged over an embankment into a lake 50 feet below.

McHugh was thrown clear. Three spectators plunged into the lake and pulled him ashore. He died of multiple injuries at a hospital a short time later.

A native of Des Moines, Iowa, McHugh had been living recently in Biloxi, Miss. Survivors include his wife; a son, Clinton Jr., 20 months; and a daughter, Kathie, 8 weeks.

Leggett Convicted Of Murder Charge In Boy's Slaying

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 9 (AP)—Emmett Earl Leggett tonight was convicted of first degree murder in the Christmas week strangulation of 14-year-old Joe King. The verdict carries a mandatory death sentence for the 19-year-old ex-convict.

The all-male jury was out two hours and 12 minutes. The defense attorney refused to say whether he planned an appeal.

Leggett, appointed by the court, had entered a plea of innocent and innocent by reason of insanity. In his closing statement, Bailey repeated the plea of insanity.

Prosecutor Frank Holt had demanded the death penalty.

Leggett was charged in the slaying of King near Jacksonville, Ark., last December 23. The boy's beaten body was found in a lonely brush patch near Jacksonville four days later.

Leggett was arrested in January in connection with the rape of two teen-aged sisters near Jacksonville.

Four police officers testified in the opening day of the trial yesterday that they heard Leggett admit the murder of the King boy. One of the raped girls testified that Leggett told her he had killed young King.

Dr. Eisenhower Silent On Plans

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, reiterated tonight that his reasons for resigning the presidency of Pennsylvania State University were "purely personal."

Milton, who spent last night at Walter Reed Hospital where the President underwent emergency surgery, visited press secretary James C. Hagerty's briefing session with reporters this evening.

Newsmen seized the opportunity to inquire about his own plans, but got nowhere. He declined to comment directly on an unconfirmed report that he may become president of John Hopkins University, Baltimore, when his Penn State tenure ends.

MAN KILLED IN EXPLOSION

MORGAN CITY, La., June 9 (AP)—A fuel tank on a shrimp trawler exploded at Berwick today, killing 37-year-old Merlin Canty of Morgan City.

Canty was working on the vessel, which was being converted into an oil workboat. The blast, heard in Berwick, hurled the man 30 feet. He died less than two hours later.

Canty is survived by his widow, five children, his parents, two brothers and four sisters.

IT'S ALSO important to settle up with your newspaper boy before you move away from his route. He is in business for himself and the cost of all copies delivered to your home comes out of his pocket, unless you pay him in full.

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—The drama of President Eisenhower's new illness began shortly after Thursday midnight in his White House bedroom.

Reports from presidential press secretaries, bulletins from attending physicians and observations of newsmen have kept the nation informed of the story.

The President retired late Thursday night after returning from the annual banquet of the White House News Photographers Assn. Here is a timetable of what followed:

12:45 a.m. Friday—Mrs. Eisenhower telephoned Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, the White House physician. She said the President's stomach is upset. Snyder prescribes "a slight dose of milk of magnesia."

1:20 a.m.—Mrs. Eisenhower called back. The President was still complaining of stomach discomfort.

2 a.m.—Snyder arrived at the White House, stayed with Eisenhower through the night.

8:30 a.m.—James C. Hagerly, presidential press secretary, announced Eisenhower has an "upset stomach and headache this morning." The President's schedule for the day was postponed. But Hagerly emphasized, as he did at each meeting with reporters: "There is nothing wrong with his heart."

10:30 a.m.—Hagerly described the trouble as "not an illness but an upset." Reported the President has no fever, but Snyder remained with him. Hagerly had a "hunch" the Eisenhower would go to Gettysburg on Saturday for a weekend they originally intended to start Friday.

12:25 p.m.—Hagerly announced the President will be taken by ambulance to Walter Reed Army Hospital, "as a precautionary measure." Illness diagnosed as ileitis, an inflammation of the lower portion of the small intestine.

1:27 p.m.—Eisenhower carried on stretcher to ambulance for the 4½-mile ride to hospital. Mrs. Eisenhower and son, Maj. John Eisenhower, drive on ahead in a limousine.

1:40 p.m.—Ambulance reached Walter Reed. Mrs. Eisenhower seemed somewhat drawn, her eyes downcast.

3:28 p.m.—Snyder and Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, hospital commandant, said the President has a partial obstruction of small intestine. Confirmed diagnosis of ileitis. Electrocardiogram showed heart in same condition as when last examined, in mid-May. Announced consultants have been summoned, including Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist who headed the team attending Eisenhower after coronary attack last Sept. 24.

5 p.m.—Hagerly said doctors advise it "would be wrong" to describe condition as "critical." Surgeons began to arrive. Surgery "a possibility."

6 p.m.—Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's youngest brother, joined family at hospital.

8 p.m.—White arrived. Said his information indicates no heart involvement. Asked whether ailment might affect heart, he replied: "It might have a little effect, but not much."

8:35 p.m.—Doctors report patient "progressing satisfactorily." Add "no indication for immediate surgery."

Friday midnight—Group of 13 surgeons and specialists began consultation to decide whether operation necessary.

2:15 a.m. Saturday—Hagerly announced: "An exploratory operation is necessary." Purpose: "To relieve the cause" of intestinal obstruction.

2:59 a.m.—Operation began.

Mrs. Eisenhower, John and Milton Eisenhower remained in presidential suite. Snyder brought them progress reports. Four surgeons comprised operating team. Estimated 20 to 22 persons—doctors and nurses—look part.

4:52 a.m.—"The operation was successful."

5:11 a.m.—Eisenhower returned to suite. Hagerly said that after an hour and 53 minutes on the operating table, the President left "in excellent condition."

5:52 a.m.—Official bulletin reported "obstruction was relieved." Specified ileitis a nonmalignant disease. Heart action described as normal throughout.

10:54 a.m.—Recovering "most satisfactorily." Spirits good, morale high. Reported one surgeon—President awoke several times, on one occasion smiled and said: "What a belly ache!"

Cain To Resume Assault On GOP Loyalty Policies

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Former Sen. Harry P. Cain (R-Wash.) will turn his guns on the State Department next in his running battle with the administration over "mismanagement of the administration's loyalty - security program, it was revealed Saturday."

Cain is a member of the Subversive Activities Control Board, the agency charged with deciding whether various organizations are dangerous to the nation's security. In this position he has been highly critical of the administration's methods in weeding security risks from the government.

He told the United Press that "without naming names" he will tell the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights Tuesday of a case involving the lengthy suspension of a career foreign service officer who finally resigned after clearance. The subcommittee is investigating the government's loyalty risk program.

Cain said the official's resignation was accompanied by a glowing letter of praise from his superior in the State Department. He said the man never was fully informed of the charges made against him but that after his (Cain's) personal intervention, the foreign service officer was cleared and the following day resigned.

"My reputation is ruined, but you have saved my life," Cain quoted the officer as saying to him after his re-instatement.

Cain emerged from the White House Thursday "hopeful of reforms in the program after a tense, 45-minute conference with President Eisenhower. He had requested the meeting which was his first with the chief executive since his appointment to the Subversive Activities Control Board three years ago.

Barbara Ann Kelso Is Wed To Jerry L. McWilliams

Claiming much attention this week end was the marriage solemnized this Saturday evening of Miss Barbara Ann Kelso, to Jerry Louis McWilliams. The Reverend Ben R. Oliphant performed the ceremony in the St. Paul's Methodist Church, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends of the young couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Franklin Kelso and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fred McWilliams.

The altar was banked with calla lilies and white stock and rising from behind the floral arrangements were pyramids of white tapestries. Plaque of magnolia foliage and white tapers were placed in the windows.

L. Slade Brown provided a program of wedding music at the organ and accompanied Palmer Jarrell in a number of vocal solos.

The bride entered the church with her father, who gave her in marriage. Her bridal gown of pure silk taffeta was made with a taut bodice and long sleeves which tapered to points over the wrists. The neckline was outlined with re-embroidered Alencon lace, frosted with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. The voluminous skirt, with appliques of lace, was caught up in the back in a fluttering bustle effect ending in a chapel train. Her tiered veil of illusion was held to her head by a tiny half hat covered with iridescent sequins. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Miss Diane Ducote was the maid of honor and the other attendants included Miss Polly Riley, Miss Carolyn Peters, Miss Carolyn McWilliams, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Rosemary McGinn and Miss Anne Patton Bradley, of Houston. The latter was junior bridesmaid. Their dresses of bluish pink silk organza were made with fitted bodices, featuring tulip necklines, and very full waltz length skirts. A strawberry sash which formed an oversized bow in the back, accented the dresses. On their heads they wore bandeaus of bluish pink and strawberry, and their bouquets were of Carol Amgling roses.

The flower girl was Jane Tucker Bradley of Houston. Her dress was similar to the junior attendant, which was made with long full skirt and short puffed sleeves. She carried a white basket filled with the same blooms.

Michael Cage was the best man and serving as groomsmen were Alton McCready, Fred Allen, John Kelso, Jr., brother of the bride, and Frank P. Rizzo, Jr.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony at the Bayou Desiard Country club where a profusion of white blossoms decorated the foyer and lounge of the club. Mrs. Kelso received her guests wearing a dress of champagne lace accented with rhinestones and a brown orchid corsage. The groom's mother also received. Her dress was of pink lace made with a roll neckline and she wore an orchid corsage.

Assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. Carroll Summer, Mrs. Darwin Nichols, Mrs. L. E. DuCote, Mrs. Louis Peters, Mrs. A. J. McGinn, Mrs. W. J. Riley, Mrs. Richard Bradley, Mrs. Jack Gaines, Miss Martha Clayton Sparks, Miss Shirley McDonald, Miss Martha Hatchell, and Mrs. John Baugh.

The cake table was beautifully decorated with baby gardenias, confederate jasmine and stephanotis. The tiered wedding cake, delicately embossed, was topped with a bouquet of valley lilies.

The punch table was decorated with white stock and white gladioli. When the couple left on their wedding trip to the Gulf coast, the bride was wearing a two piece suit of beige raw silk. Her hat, shoes and bag were of contrasting shades of brown and beige. Upon their return they will reside on Bell avenue in Monroe.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hayes, of Meridian, Miss. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilbert, Macon, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gossett, Natchez, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. MRS. JOHN ARTHUR SCHRADER

Wedding In Houston Is Of Interest To Monroe Friends

An out of town wedding of interest here, solemnized in Houston, Texas, was that of Miss Ann Margaret Sheppard, and John Arthur Schrader.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Roberts Sheppard of Houston and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Salisbury of this city.

The nuptials took place in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p.m. June 8, with the Reverend C. Rodney Sunday officiating.

The church was decorated with white summer blossoms and black wrought iron candelabra holding white tapers.

The bride entered the church with her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a dress of white crystanza, ballerina length, and fashioned along princess lines with a gathered flounce at side fronts and across the back. The wide V neckline finished with a shaped collar. Her waist length veil of illusion was held in place by a lace covered pillbox beaded with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and baby pink roses. Her only ornament was an heirloom baroque pearl necklace. She also wore an opal and pearl ring, which was her grandmother's engagement ring.

Mrs. Melvaine Carter Caldwell was the matron of honor. Her wide-skirted teal blue crystanza gown was made with a stand away collar and her bouquet was of pink carnations and pink roses. Mr. Melvaine Carter Caldwell served as best man. The ushers were George Hall More, III and James Arthur Whitson, Jr.

MRS. JOHN BARBER RODDEY

Roddey-Savony Wedding Is Solemnized In Shreveport

United in marriage at 7:30 o'clock last evening in an impressive double-ring ceremony at the Southside Baptist Church in Shreveport were Miss Karleen Welch Savony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fernand Jules Savony of Shreveport and Mr. John Barber Roddey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noel M. Roddey of this city.

Branched candelabra with white cathedral tapers, potted greenery, and floor baskets of white gladioli formed a picturesque background for the exchange of vows. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Thomas Kelly, organist, played nuptial selections. Mrs. Charles Ray Griffin, Jr., soloist, sang "I Love You Truly", "Because", and "The Lord's Prayer".

Miss Martha Carroll and Miss Anita Adcock lighted the candles. Miss Judy Savony served her sister as maid of honor. She wore a turquoise blue silk organza model over taffeta. Miss Kathryn Ann Sloan was flower girl and carried a white basket of rose petals. Master George Miller, Jr. served as ring-bearer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown was a delicately etched Chantilly lace and net creation. The skirt featured rows of dainty ruffles forming a bouffant chapel length skirt. The lace bodice was complemented by a short fitted bolero. Her finger tip veil of illusion was held by a crown of pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a white bridal Bible and bouquet of stephanotis centered with a golden-throated oriole.

MR. AND MRS. HORACE LYNN HEAD

Head-Byrne Vows Exchanged At St. Pascal's Church

The nuptial vows of Miss Jo Ann Byrne and Horace Lynn Head were pledged at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening at St. Pascal's Catholic Church in West Monroe. Father Vitus Duschinsky performed the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Byrne is the daughter of Mrs. William H. Byrne and the late Mr. Byrne of 305 Haynes street, West Monroe. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee Head of Springhill are the bridegroom's parents.

Tall baskets of white gladioli decorated the altar. Nuptial music was presented by Sister M. Clotilde.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Percy Wallace Parker, was wearing a waltz-length gown of chantilly lace with a scalloped hemline and Peter Pan collar. Her veil was a fingertip length. She carried a white orchid surrounded by white carnations mounted on a white prayer book.

Miss Mary Agnes Messina was maid of honor. Her dress was designed with a long torso and full waltz-length skirt of pink crystal-lette. She wore a matching pink velvet half-hat and carried a colonial bouquet of pastel blue carnations.

Miss Ruby Worley was bridesmaid. Her gown was of aqua crystal-lette fashioned identical to the honor attendant's. She also wore a matching half-hat and carried pastel pink carnations.

The bridegroom's brother, Jimmy Head, was best man. David Boardman of Ruston served as groomsmen.

Mrs. Byrne chose for her daughter's wedding a rose lace dress complemented by white accessories and a shoulder corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Head, the bridegroom's mother, was becomingly attired in a blue lace model matching hat and white gloves. Her corsage was of white carnations.

A reception followed the ceremony at 7 o'clock in the church parlor.

The bride's table was overlaid in white cutwork embroidered cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Two large bouquets of white carnations were placed at each end of the table. Wedding bells were suspended over the cake.

The punch table was overlaid in an Italian lace cloth over pink. Mrs. Dick Jolissaint and Mrs. Bob Lemoine served the wedding cake. Mrs. P. W. Parker, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. C. L. Johnson presided at the punch service.

For a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark., the bride wore a navy blue ensemble with white accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The bride attended St. Matthew High School, St. Paschal's High School and Northeast Louisiana State College.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Miles J. Byrne and daughter Mary Miles of Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Head and son, Jimmy of Springhill and David Boardman of Ruston.

MR. AND MRS. FREDDIE RAY HALL

West Monroe Couple Pledge Nuptial Vows

In a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 o'clock, Friday, June 1, at the Good Hope Baptist church, Miss Jerry Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bridges Young, of West Monroe became the bride of Freddie Ray Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Hall, also of this city.

The double ring nuptials were held by the Rev. Wayne Carpenter.

The couple pledged their vows before an arch entwined with southern smilax and gardenias. Tall baskets of white gladioli and greenery flanked the arch.

Miss Mary Jane Dressler was organist and accompanied the soloists, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smith of Baton Rouge.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her wedding gown was fashioned of white nylon lace and net over white satin with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and long lace sleeves which ended in petal points over the wrist. The skirt was styled with lace ruffles which terminated in a chapel length train. A coronet of seed pearls secured her fingertip veil of illusion.

She carried a bouquet centered with a white orchid and a pearl covered Bible.

Miss Daisy Young, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her dress was a blue lace featuring a ruffled skirt. She wore a matching headpiece and carried a bouquet of blue daisies and gardenias.

Mrs. Mary Whitehead and Miss Lovie Jean Gray were bridesmaids. Their gowns were in shades of pink fashioned to match the maid of honor's. Their headpieces were also in pink. Bouquets of daisies and gardenias were carried by the bridesmaids.

The candles were lighted by Miss Eloyce Baxter and Miss DeAnna Lee. Both were wearing blue formals.

The bridegroom's brother, Wayne Hall, served as best man. Ushers were Billy Graft and Donald Bates.

Mrs. Young chose for her daughter's wedding a blue lace model with white accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a pink lace with white accessories. Her flowers were also red rosebuds.

A reception followed in the home of the bride's parents.

Brighten up that cooked rice to serve with chicken or ham! Add sliced pimiento - stuffed olives, minced parsley or green onions, strips of green pepper and pimiento or a little chili sauce or catch-up.

Kitchen arithmetic: a tall can of evaporated milk holds 1 two-thirds cups.

THE GAS GATHERING TAX

Your Children Need It

Natural gas is a precious natural resource. Louisiana has a LIMITED amount. Louisiana will not always have natural gas. During the last few years large pipe lines have been built carrying Louisiana's natural gas to other states where it is used to attract industries and compete economically with Louisiana. Over 77% of the taxable natural gas produced in Louisiana today goes to other states. THE ENTIRE PRODUCTION of whole natural gas fields has in many instances been committed during their producing life-time to out-of-state use. They are already beyond the reach of Louisiana citizens as fully as though the gas from those fields had been consumed. In promoting these huge interstate pipe lines to take Louisiana's natural gas to other states, the whole estimated reserve of a chosen gas field is financially committed to pay the cost of the pipe line. How else can we Louisianians better benefit from these God-given natural resources, which are rapidly being depleted for the benefit of people in other states, than to expect a REASONABLE CONTRIBUTION toward the EDUCATION OF OUR CHILDREN. This is the most productive way to spend a tax dollar. An investment in education is a permanent investment in our people. The educated citizen is a more productive citizen than is the citizen who has not had the opportunity to obtain an education.

All candidates for Governor and a great majority of the candidates for the Louisiana Legislature endorsed and pledged support for the new teacher salary schedule recently adopted by the Legislature. The merits of this salary schedule were unquestioned, and the salary schedule was never a political issue. The schedule has been overwhelmingly passed by the Legislature. In April of 1956, the people of Louisiana approved a constitutional amendment which dedicated $15 million of the state's mineral income annually to support needed highway improvements. This amendment has reduced the amount of money in the general fund of the state which until the present year has been available for education and other governmental services.

THE EDUCATION OF OUR CHILDREN IS OUR GREATEST RESPONSIBILITY. The natural resources of this state are God-given resources and any revenues that are derived from this source should be used for the education of our CHILDREN

The TAX

1 NO OTHER TAX WOULD BRING AS GREAT A REVENUE RETURN AND AT THE SAME TIME PLACE SUCH A SMALL TAX BURDEN UPON THE PEOPLE OF THIS STATE. IT IS CERTAINLY APPROPRIATE THAT REVENUES DERIVED FROM NATURAL RESOURCES BE USED TO EDUCATE OUR CHILDREN.

2 Much of our natural gas now goes to other states. This exported gas helps support industries in these other states. Taxes on the gas which Louisiana exports can partially offset the loss of valuable and irreplaceable natural resources. More than 77% of the PRESENT one cent tax on natural gas is collected on gas consumed in other states.

3 During the past 10 years, industry in Louisiana has enjoyed tax exemptions on a $1,726,333.134.00 (ONE BILLION PLUS) investment in new plants and equipment and expansion of old plants.

4 This tax increase will be levied primarily on the Louisiana gas consumed in other states. In this way, out-of-state consumers of one of our basic natural resources will help pay the cost of improving our human resources—THIS MEANS OUR CHILDREN.

5 The proposed tax is so arranged so as to encourage the industrial development of Louisiana and to protect its present industry.

6 AN EDUCATED CITIZENRY ENCOURAGES NEW INDUSTRY.

The NEED

1 The proposed gas-gathering tax is the only bill now before the Legislature which will finance the provisions of the Minimum Salary Schedule Act already passed by the Legislature. This schedule will help to provide and maintain qualified teachers for the more than 828,000 school children of Louisiana.

2 The new salary schedule is a modest one for college-trained people. Under the schedule, a TEACHER with a Master's degree must teach six years before earning the salary normally paid by industry to a BEGINNING EMPLOYEE with a Bachelor's degree.

3 The public schools of this state are losing prospective teachers to industry because of relatively low salaries. Prospective teachers trained in Louisiana are now accepting employment in other states because of better beginning salaries.

4 During the 1955-56 school session, the average teacher's salary in Louisiana was LESS than the national average.

5 The national average of teacher salaries has been for some time lower than the average income of all persons over fourteen years (14) of age in all occupations, including the UNEMPLOYED seeking work.

6 A fundamental concern of management, when seeking a new location for an industry, is the quality of the school system in the state and community being considered as a location. Louisiana provides ten-year property tax exemptions to new industries and expansion programs of old industries. These same property tax EXEMPTED INDUSTRIES are bringing thousands of children into the schools of Louisiana. This influx of increased enrollments has placed additional financial responsibilities upon local school boards.

7 Today, slightly more than half of our qualified teacher graduates actually go into the teaching profession in Louisiana. This year school boards—somehow—must provide adequate salaries to attract qualified new teachers for the 28,852 additional children and retain the qualified teachers now employed. As the population increases and industries expand the problem of inducing these teachers to enter the profession will become even more acute.

8 College graduates can find jobs in business and industry. WHO WILL TEACH YOUR CHILDREN? WE MUST PROVIDE THE FUNDS FOR ADEQUATE TEACHER SALARIES.

Hard Of Hearing Helped By Patented Invention!

U. S. Patent No. 2, 611, 829 has made possible an eyeglass hearing aid that requires no wire, no tube, no receiver or earmold, no device that "plugs in" either ear. Developed by Acousticon, oldest and leading manufacturer of electrical hearing aids, the invention makes possible more comfortable, inconspicuous correction for thousands who have hearing difficulties.

This exclusive invention is built right into the Spectacon eyeglass hearing aid. The eyeglass frames are made by a leading optical company and are available in any size. They make no sacrifice of optical standards.

You may see for yourself how this remarkable hearing development works—how it is as easy to put on or take off as any pair of glasses. Demonstration is free—see and hear for yourself, without obligation.

6 Local School Districts Need Aid In Building

BATON ROUGE (AP)—An independent research group contended today that only six local school districts in Louisiana need state aid to meet estimated school building needs for the next three years.

The Public Affairs Research Council (PAR) contended a legislative proposal to "increase taxes on pipelines to finance bond issues for local school construction is not designed to meet school building needs which cannot be met by local resources."

Only six of the state's 67 local school systems, (64 parish and three city), have insufficient capacity to pay for needed schools, PAR said.

A bill introduced in the House would set a $4.25 mill tax on pipelines with the revenue going to a new state school building commission. The tax would be in addition to the present 5.75 mills state ad valorem tax against assessed value of all property.

The commission would have authority to issue bonds, up to an estimated 190 million dollar total, to assist in public school, college and trade school construction.

The bill provides the funds will be distributed 75 per cent to public schools, 20 per cent to colleges and five per cent to trade schools, after political subdivisions have been reimbursed for tax money lost because of the removal of pipelines from local taxation.

PAR said one-third of the funds for public schools would be distributed on a "share and share alike basis, regardless of the widely varying numbers of school children to be housed by the systems."

The remaining two-thirds would be distributed on the basis of average daily membership in the public schools, PAR said, with the schools required to put up a minimum of 20 per cent in matching funds.

PAR said, "parishes which are without sufficient local resources to meet their school building needs and parishes which are comparatively rich in such resources would be treated alike under both distributions."

Under existing assessments and with the present authority to issue bonds up to 25 per cent of assessed valuation, PAR said only Assumption, East Feliciana, Livingston, St. Helena, Washington and West Feliciana parishes could not meet their needs to 1959 as estimated needs. PAR added the need of education.

These six parishes lack a total of $1,871,000 in resources to meet estimated needs. AR added the remaining 61 systems have bonding capacity totalling $323,894,000 in excess of their three-year requirements.

Having assumed an active role in the house floor effort which resulted in a turn - down of administration plan for restoration of more than $1 billion of committee cuts in this year's foreign aid authorization, Louisiana Fifth District Congressman Otto E. Passman Saturday reiterated his disappointment that the bill's ceilings were not lowered even further.

As chairman of the appropriations subcommittee handling the money bill which must follow the authorization act, he served notice of his personal hope to cut the actual appropriations several hundred millions deeper than the authorized amounts. "I believe there is sufficient evidence to justify additional cuts," he said, "and am going to work toward achieving them."

PROMINENT DESIGNER — Charming interpretation of the biggest news in fashion—taking the form of a lovely two-part ensemble, Ginny Stutzlen, talented American Designer, sees this slimmer-than-ever sheath as the silhouette for summer, "because it's so wonderfully becoming to a woman's figure," she declares. Pattern M235 is deliberately designed on starkly simple lines — to further emphasize the short jacket for cover-up—its brief length is fashion news too! Miss Stutzlen suggests you make the ensemble in shantung, fine linen, polished cotton — bodice of pretty organdy or chiffon. Sewing? Very, very simple!

His appropriations subcommittee is now intensively engaged in holding hearings on the money phases of the bill, which will probably be brought to the House for action early in July.

Representative Passman pointed out that, even with the cuts sustained in the authorizations, the total remained at some $800 million more than the appropriation last year. The administration asked for new appropriations of $4.9 billion for foreign aid. Last year's appropriation was reduced by $500 million to $2.7 billion.

The Louisiana congressman repeated charges that the foreign aid program "is loaded with irregularities and inconsistencies, with confusion being the order of the day." For illustration, he recalled that 22 per cent of the entire annual appropriation for the program had been obligated on the "last hour of the last day" of the fiscal year, last June 30. He also cited discovery by his subcommittee, after last year's appropriation bill was in House - Senate conference, of $302 million held by the Air Force but belonging to the Foreign Operations administration, "which the Air Force didn't know what to do with, and the FOA didn't know was due."

Current testimony in the hearings of his subcommittee indicates, he said, that "there is no less confusion now."

Representative Passman deplored what he termed "rock-and-roll tactics and emotionalism, rather than the facts and good, sound logic," in the administration's foreign aid presentation to Congress.

He explained that annual appropriations of as much as $2.5 billion — "and I believe even that much is unjustified" — would provide for about $5 billion of unexpended funds in the foreign aid "pipeline."

He added, "With five billion unexpended in the pipeline from year to year, you certainly should have a well - financed program, even under the administration's giveaway policies."

Only Added Govt. Expenses Warrant More State Taxes

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana doesn't need any new taxes in the next fiscal year unless "there are major expansions of state government services," an independent research group said today.

Seventeen tax measures have been introduced in the Legislature with Gov. Earl Long pushing a number of them. They would raise over 45 million dollars in new revenues.

In a review of the executive budget, the Public Affairs Research Council (PAR) said:

"The executive budget, with substantial increases in several major state functions, can be balanced this fiscal year without any increase in state taxes by making use of surpluses which accumulated because revenues have exceeded estimates."

PAR added the proposed budget was based on current revenues "though the trend in tax collections in recent years has been steadily upward."

As an example, PAR cited the budget estimate on sales tax revenues, showing no expected increase, although the tax from this source is estimated to produce 11 per cent more this year than last year and has been increasing annually.

PAR noted the budget estimates a drop in income taxes when the trend is upward.

A major decline is forecast in bonus revenues from leasing of state owned lands and water bottoms, a major source of revenue under former Gov. Robert Kennon.

Major budget spending hikes hikes come in education and welfare, with a possible drop in highway spending. The three departments absorb about 70 per cent of state spending.

Spending on public schools would total $173,291,000, an increase of 10.8 per cent over the current fiscal year. Higher education funds would be hiked 12.8 per cent in the budget to a total of $37,393,000.

Welfare spending, including federal funds, would rise to $131,493,000—up 13.5 per cent, mainly because of an increase in old age assistance payments.

Under the executive budget, PAR noted there would be a general fund surplus at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, of $10,400,000 plus 15 to 17 million dollars in the property tax relief fund.

Also, PAR added, there is almost five million dollars appro-

Garden Lighting For Outdoor Fun

If you're interested in beautiful day lilies, you're invited to view the H. R. Hayes garden on College avenue, (no number listed in directory) One lily has been named for Mrs. Hayes, and of course, she has that one growing.

Garden Lighting
So much is needed in garden lighting. When I thought of passing some ideas on to you my thoughts turned to Mrs. George Holt (just Sandy to all who know her) She is a specialist in this line, so I'm giving you the following ideas, a-la-Sandy:

"A New Kind of Night Life"
Time was when a flood lighted garden was found only on a tremendous estate with a crew of gardeners to run the show. Now, with the growth in the number of home owners, with the growth of picture windows and interest in gardening, after dark illumination has become an every night reality in modest gardens.

For not only can garden lighting be installed simply these days, without a major landscaping upheaval, but it also can be done without a major upheaval to the budget. There are numerous portable lighting fixtures available that can be pushed into the soil and connected to a portable-outlet device. And so "portable" that some patio designs can go into the family room or den during cold months.

Simple and beautiful effects can be achieved by the lighting of a well-shaped tree, a pond, a piece of garden statuary or a flower bed. Place the light at an angle off to one side or place two lights coming from different angles, converging on the subject. The result is another whole personality for your lawn or garden, when normally it is engulfed in black "nothingness."

Not only does outside wiring give you another "room" to relax and entertain in after dark, or to read in, but you also have handy electricity for cooking hamburgers, brewing coffee, mowing the lawn, listening to your favorite program as well as Christmas lighting.

Your guests too, are not only treated to hidden beauty, they also are free from the hazards of unfamiliar paths and steps that can trip them up after dark. And don't forget protection such lighting can give you.

On the safety score, remember to experiment with placing fixtures only in a dry garden, for dew or any other moisture must be guarded against in handling electrical equipment. Install equipment first, then connect electricity.

Waterproof cords and moisture-proof connections are a "must" for temporary and permanent installations alike. The fixtures themselves can be everything from commercially made "lily pads" telescoping lights that poke into the ground, to homemade devices that are as simple as an old watering can with a hole cut in one side, and another drilled in the bottom for the cord. They look natural by day, yet become a lamp at night.

You will find garden lighting equipment priced from three dollars up in many of our local firms who handle lighting fixtures and equipment. If you need help with planning lighting in your garden, call for Mrs. Holt at 3-4421.

Canna Lilies
We are appreciating the old canna lily more since we have so many new varieties. However, the old ones are lovely, too. Miss Myrtle Rogers is an admirer of this lily and grows several different colors in her garden. The foliage is very satisfactory in arrangements. The reddish leaves and the green ones are equally as pretty.

There are many new colors. I ordered a shell pink and a snow white several years ago. The shell pink turned out to be the rose that many of you grow, the white a dirty-looking cream. Do you have a snow white or know where gardeners can buy a flower?

Of course every flower seems to have an insect or disease and the canna is no exception. Right now the leaf roller has started. Our department recommends dusting with 5 per cent D. D. T. weekly after insect appears. If you had this pest last year, he'll visit you again. This gardener took up all the canna bulbs in February, dusting them with D. D. T. Earlier I had cut and burned all the tops. I thought that surely the old greenish worm had been eradicated. Yesterday I noticed the leaves were turning brown on the edges and rolling in. Strange this doesn't seem to affect the blossoms that are very attractive in arrangements.

National Dairy Week
"The people who have achieved, who have become large, strong, vigorous people, who have reduced their infant mortality, who have the best trades in the world, who have an appreciation of art, literature and music, who are aggressive in science and in every activity of the human intellect, are the people who have used liberal amounts of milk and its products." Dr. E. V. McCollum, Prof. of Biochemistry, Johns Hopkins University.

"Increasing the proportion of milk in the diet should add to the length of life." Dr. H. C. Sherman, Emeritus Professor of Chemistry, Columbia University.

"This is National Dairy Month. Check to see if each member of your family is drinking at least three glasses of milk daily." Mildred Swift—just plain Mildred.

Young and old, alike, need milk. It's nature's most perfect food and there is no waste. Why do we need milk? It contains high quality protein that builds and repairs the body. Milk gives energy. The fat in milk is very easy for the body to use, because it's in a form ready to digest. Milk is not fattening because no one food is fattening. It's the amount you eat. There are at least six vitamins in milk. A for seeing and most of the B vitamins. These B vitamins keep you going, give the heart muscles tone, aid in reproduction, lengthen the life span, prevent pellagra and give you vigor.

Three glasses of milk will give you all the calcium you need for the day. No other food supplies as much. Calcium is needed for building bones and teeth, to coordinate the body processes, for clotting of blood, control rhythm of the heart beat. It is practically impossible to get the amount of calcium you need unless you drink milk.

Yes, milk is inexpensive, non-fattening, milk is for everybody. Stop! Check to see if each member in your family is getting three glasses each day.

Daylily And Iris Society Present Flower Show

Members of the Dixieland Daylily and Iris Society presented an all blue ribbon flower show at the Garden Center this week. Mrs. Georgia Williams exhibited a number of beautiful daylily seedlings from her garden in addition to named varieties as follows: All were blue ribbon winners: Georgia, wide petals of peach pink, Show Girl, Soft orchid pink with rosy veins, wide ruffled reflexed segments, Dorothea, petals yellow flushed with heliotrope and deep-er eyezone. Sepals pale yellow. Betsy B., brilliant velvet rich red and Embers a deep orange red, true to its name.

In the arrangement section Mrs. K. R. Young was awarded first place. A round green vase was used for the line mass arrangement in colors of green and lavender. Background was of soft pink. Lines were established with equi-setum (horsetail rush) with gray green leaves of the datura used as a filler. The lovely lavender blooms of Monarda (bee balm) strengthened the line. Clustered at the rim of the container as a focal point were lavender phlox. This design was characterized by the unusual handling of usual material. Mrs. Milton Ford was awarded second place. Mrs. Ford chose a sand colored crescent container for her lovely crescent design of daylilies. The color blending was lovely shading from small pale yellows to larger deeper yellows with bronze tints. Mrs. Suzee Gorman was awarded third place for a beautiful triangular design. A rectangular flat bowl set on a brown base contained the arrangement of dark red canna leaves and buds with Black Hills daylilies. The Black Hills variety are a deep black red with yellow throat. This was a beautiful combination and the background color was chartreuse. Mrs. Gorman also was awarded a blue ribbon for her lovely arrangement in a basket. A round basket made of natural colored rush contained the lovely design of yellow and green. Curved around the handle was variegated honeysuckle (yellow with green veins) small buds and blooms of the Sea Shell daylily continued down the line. The honeysuckle was brought down the side of the basket and over the rim. Low in the arrangement as a focal point were Mamie Lake daylilies in a deeper yellow with ruffled edges. The combination of materials and blending of colors most beautiful to behold.

Mrs. Milton Ford was given a blue ribbon for her collection of Gladioli in various colors. New introductions were "Sunset" a brilliant orange with yellow throat, and "Apple Blossom", a white with rosy pink edging.

The Fifth District Garden Center (and this means all of you garden club members) is a member of the American Hemerocallis Society. We have just received the Yearbook issue of the Hemerocallis Journal. We have several books on daylilies and chapters in Hudson's Southern Gardening and Hume's Gardening in the Lower South on the subject. If you have not included daylilies in your landscape pattern you are really missing a treat. Why not visit all the local gardens including the test garden at Northeast College and acquaint yourself with the many colors and forms of this most desirable and rewarding plant. Many varieties have evergreen foliage and they will withstand drought and they will repay you handsomely if you give them a little plant food after blooming and plenty of water.

Opening lead: Two of clubs. Failure to give adequate protection to his big guns proved costly to declarer in today's hand.

The final contract of four hearts proved to be a sound one, though declarer's method of bringing it about left something to be desired. After North's response of one spade, the rebid of two clubs would not have been our choice. Such action risks a pass-out on some holdings which would produce a game. The South hand is worth 19 points at hearts and a jump rebid is indicated. The texture of the heart suit is such as to justify a rebid of three hearts, which North would raise to four without complications.

West led the deuce of clubs despite declarer's bid of that suit, which gave it all the earmarks of a singleton. Dummy played low, and East's seven forced declarer's king. Trumps were attacked immediately, and East lost no time in taking the ace and returning the queen of clubs. South was quite convinced from the demeanor of adversaries that his ace was going to be ruffed; so with an air of resignation and in the spirit of "what difference does it make?" he covered, and West put a little trump to good use. He then got out with a diamond, forcing South's ace. The remaining trumps were drawn, and while declarer was able to discard the losing diamond on the queen of spades, he was left with two losing clubs and had to submit to a one trick set.

South had managed his assets rather incautiously. Careful play of the club suit would have permitted fulfillment of the contract even against the bad break. When the queen of clubs came back, declarer should have refused to cover,

Our belief that boys are hale and hearty and girls delicate and frail is alarming the reverse of the facts. We must put fewer burdens on men. They should find more time for recreation and hobbies.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Burr Rose Can Care For Itself

One of the best of the old roses mentioned in a column some time ago is the Burr Rose or Chinquapin Rose. To us in the South, this is a very important plant because it is a tough shrub that will take care of itself and at the same time provide us with roses.

You are apt to find the Burr Rose growing in a great heap six to ten feet tall and twenty feet across near the well or close to the house at old countryplaces. It will not matter if there has been no one living in the old house for fifty years. This rose can take care of itself! It begins to flower in the regular rose season every spring and goes on blooming for several weeks after the hybrid teas have quit down. The flat, double blossoms are deep pink in the center with a lighter edge. The buds are intriguing. They are like small chinquapins or burrs. In flower arrangements, they are delightful.

After the first burst of bloom, the Burr Rose will go on flowering here and there over the big bush all summer. When the weather approaches, it like most roses renews its crop of flowers. The burrs remain on the bush after the flowers have gone and turn brown. These, too, are apt to find their way into dried winter flower arrangements.

For a hedge or fence, nothing is better than the Burr Rose. It is not rampant but will spread out very slowly if you want it to. It can be kept to any size you wish by an occasional trimming. The flowers are much more beautiful than those of the popular Multiflora Rose now being planted so extensively by everybody. On some old plantations in the South, our grandfathers and great-grandfathers planted hedges of the Macartney Rose, that spreading tremendous species with sweet single flowers in summer. The Burr Rose has far prettier flowers than either Macartney or Multiflora, blooms longer and can be kept in bounds with less effort.

The fine feathery foliage of the Burr Rose looks like the leaves of our honey locust trees. Where each leaf comes off the stem, there is a small prickly which is turned up instead of down as on most roses. Sometimes you will run into the single flowered Roxburgh Rose with the same foliage. This is the cultivation early in the last century rose from China which is a parent of the Burr Rose. Some think the Macartney Rose was the other parent. Since its introduction Burr Rose looks like the leaves of cultivation early in the last century, several named varieties of the Burr Rose have been created and sold to the public, so you may run into any one of several beautiful kinds. At one time, a variety was sold at Mount Vernon and called Martha Washington. This is the commonest one to be seen in old gardens.

Record Review

Popular Records
Emory Cook and his equally traveled companion, Bob Ballard, have returned from another of their trips to interesting places in search of unusual record material. Their destination was Trinidad, but their mission was not limited to picking up a few calypso items.

Instead Emory and Bob caught the spirit of the island at carnival time and went to out-of-the-way places to gather primitive sounds and some up-to-date Caribbean jazz.

The result of their months-long project is three excellent LP's that belong among collector's items—"Jump Up Carnival," "Drums of Trinidad" and "Le Jazz Primitif."

"Jump Up Carnival" is a history on record (Cook Laboratories) of the most frantic hours of the Mardi Gras in Trinidad, a mixup of steel bands, calypso songs and mambos—all unheard.

"Drums of Trinidad" is a more eclectic item, its title setting the motif. A six-man drum orchestra beats primitive rhythms for 45 minutes without becoming tiresome.

"Le Jazz Primitif" is a more familiar type of music, a melding of the jazz patterns of North America and the Latin beat of South America.

Decca also has captured the Latin spirit in its six-album addendum to the nine-LP "Holiday" series which it launched so successfully last year.

Two of the LP's—"Holiday in Barcelona" and "Holiday in Spain"—present lush arrangements of many familiar old Spanish songs such as "Granada" and "Lullaby of Spain." "Holiday in the Dominican Republic" features 12 Caribbean numbers. "Holiday in Mexico" is a musical compendium of great south-of-the-border songs, among them "La Paloma," "You're My Everything" and "Green Eyes."

Decca rounded off this particular adjunct to the series with a tribute to the United States in a "Holiday in the South" and "Holiday in New York" set.

Tops in Pops: "Spring Is Here" by George Shearing Quintet (M-G-M), "Rock and Roll the Barrel" by Ralph Marterie (Mercury), "The Campus Rock" by the Tyrones (Wing), "Born to Be With You" by the Chordettes (Cadence), "The Mocking Bird" by the Four Lads (Okeh), and "Somebody's Gotta Lose" by Maria Cole (Capitol).

For young collectors: If you are starting a classical record collection, the Andre Kostelanetz Columbia recording of "The Nutcracker Suite" is a stunner. The other side is devoted to shorter but familiar Tchaikovsky items.

DONALD ELDER

BOOKS

Ring Lardner By Donald Elder. Doubleday.

Born in 1885 in Niles, Mich. Ring Lardner had, happily, a good start. His family was well-to-do, and cultured; a slight physical handicap, which was later overcome, may have intensified his interest in sports; his ear even when he was a child was attuned to colloquialisms.

The South Bend (Ind.) Times, the Chicago Inter-Ocean, the Chicago Tribune and finally the New York Tribune provided his major newspaper jobs. But married in 1911 and feeling the responsibilities of husband and father, he needed more money, and began his literary career with the "You Know Me All" stories.

From the crowds in the bleachers at the ball games, from players themselves, from the Main Street where H. L. Menckhen cooked an ear at the American language, Lardner got a rich, indigenous, natural speech that was next door to illiterate and yet that made literary history. Menckhen would predict that the professors would have to reckon with this sports writer. He gave them half a dozen masterpieces to reckon with.

"Haircut," "The Golden Honey-moon" and so on.

His author was prudent; he was indifferent to causes; he was a fascinating letter-writer—there should be a collection; he was a heavy drinker; he died in 1933.

There was an American sadness to the Lardner genius, and you have it here. You have him here, too, in the midst of his typewriter, with a drink in hand, hurt or happy, sadistic or witty. It may have been wonderful fun to write this splendid life, but at moments a heartbreaking task too.

ing and was considered the key to the human destiny.

As in the act of the Middle Ages, his men and women do not appear in the solitude and the abandonment which characterizes the modern conception but as the members of a profession which gives form and content to their lives.

And so we see reappear in his work the charity of the monks, the wisdom of the monks and also, as in the Middle Ages, the robust peasant figures such as his "Melon Cutter."

This return from the sight of unrelieved misery into an epoch in which charity was considered capable of redeeming suffering, has something similar to Goethe's flight from the storms of the human heart into the iron laws of the gods of antiquity.

Both artists thus gained distance from what troubled them most. Both consequently could treat passion and suffering as an artistic problem, not as the Golgotha of their own hearts.

But those who take refuge in the terms of other ages forego the artist's highest aim—to mold in his heart his own, personal style.

Both Goethe and Barlach achieved their greatest work where their passions and compassions swept away the artifice of their adopted styles, as in his "Werther," "Faust" and the "Wilhelm Meister," and in Barlach's deeply moving "Mersey," showing an old woman with her emaciated, outstretched arms; a haunting picture of misery.

TV Notes

Racing Triple Crown

The Belmont Stakes, third tier in racing's "Triple Crown" will be broadcast exclusively over the CBS TV and radio networks on Saturday, June 16. It was announced today, the grueling test for three-year-olds at a mile-and-a-half, the $100,000 added feature will be broadcast at 2:30 p.m., CST.

It's not as early in 1956 as you think, CBS already has looked ahead to Jan. 1, 1957 and arranged for a two-hour broadcast of the Tournament of Roses parade from Pasadena, Calif. Even has a sponsor signed to foot the bill.

Jackie Gleason, as anyone with a pinch of showmanship could have forecast months ago, is going back to the one-hour live variety show that made him famous. The first of his weekly series will be presented on CBS Sept. 29 at 8 p.m. The current weekly half-hour "Honey-mooners" on film will continue through the summer—re-runs, of course—until Sept. 22. There will still be occasional live "Honey-mooners" sketches next season, as in the past.

William Bendix of "Life With Riley" will do his third outside dramatic show of the year on June 21 when he appears in "A Past Remembered" for "Ford Theater." The former hat boy for the N. Y. Giants will be cast as an ex-All America football player.

The summer stock company phase of Robert Montgomery's drama program for NBC will begin July 2 and operate each Monday through Sept. 3. Among the players who will enact a variety of roles week after week will be Jan. Miner, Charles Drake and Tom Middleton.

Sherlock Holmes as Will Scarlett? Sounds unlikely, but it happened because Ronald Howard, who impersonated the great sleuth for TV, was hired for the latter role in a couple of the "Robin Hood" series on CBS.

Jack Benny and wife (Mary Livingston) have gone abroad for two and a half months, most of which will be spent in London preparing filmed programs for the comedian's CBS shows next season.

Dr. Frances Horwich of "Ding Dong School" (and NBC's supervisor of children's programs) has been charged by the network with developing new juvenile programs to be tested on its stations in New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Buffalo, Los Angeles and Chicago.

Arthur Godfrey's "Talent Scouts" on CBS Monday night has achieved a 52-week contract renewal for TV and radio by three sponsors.

STAMPS

Religious themes have been depicted on postage stamps for many years. But it is becoming more and more evident that topical collectors have been specializing in these adhesives in recent years.

The Collectors of Religion on Stamps (COROS) has furthered this interest by issuing annual awards to the countries of the world with the best religious designs.

The 1955 award for the most outstanding design went to the Saar for its semipostal showing the famous painting "Praying Hands" by Albrecht Dürer.

The Long Awaited "monarchs set" by Greece has finally arrived on the philatelic scene, reports the New York Stamp Co. The highest value, 10 drachma blue, depicts King Paul, Queen Frederica and the Crown Prince. The entire set consists of 14 values.

Austria will honor the 23rd International Congress for Housing and Town Planning to be held in Vienna from July 22 to 28 with a special stamp. The design shows a map of Europe on which is superimposed a plan of several cities in Europe, including Vienna. The 1.15 schilling is green, red and black.

Belgium has issued a new 100 franc blue violet in honor of its railroad industry. On the new stamp is a picture of the Brussels railway station. This is the highest value in the new parcel post series.

Cuba has issued a special set of two stamps honoring Mothers Day. The 4 centavos brown and green bears a smiling portrait of Victor Munoz, famed author, newspaperman, member of the Havana city council and founder of Mothers Day in Cuba. The 12 cent red and blue depicts a mother holding a baby in her arms.

Both the East and Western zones of Germany have issued new stamps. The East (Communist) sector provides two stamps for the bicycle race between Warsaw, Berlin and Prague. The 10 pfennig green shows a hand over a bicycle wheel. The 20 pfennig red has a coat of arms over a wheel.

The two stamps from West Germany mark the centenary of the Assn. of German Engineers. The 10 pf is green and the 20 pf red.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Physical Changes Are Noted During Pregnancy

I receive many letters from young mothers who want to know how to regain their former figure and what to do about some of the marks left by pregnancy.

For instance, letters ask what to do about the "Pregnancy Mask." This is dark pigmentation on the skin which may occur in several areas. The facial mask is one which is well known, and the skin around the nipples or below the navel may become discolored. Almost always the facial mask disappears, given time. Usually the other areas do not change to former coloring. Doctors do not know what causes this change in pigmentation.

I have a theory that the change in pigmentation of the skin is abetted by extreme exposure to bright sunlight. Many women notice freckles and brown spots on their hands after spending a summer in the sun. I suggest that the pregnant woman not attempt an extreme sunbath although she spends time in the outdoors. You can get all of the vitamin D you need by sitting on your porch or under an umbrella.

Stretch Marks. Stretch marks are another mark which pregnancy sometimes leaves. These are caused by stretching of the skin. There is no way to get rid of these although time will dim them. In this case preventive measures are important.

Here are some of them: 1. During pregnancy and the nursing period wear brassieres which are especially designed to support the extra weight. Always lie down when nursing your child.

2. Watch the scales and do not gain weight yourself during pregnancy. Of course the scales will show an increase because of the weight of the baby and its habitat, but do not become fat yourself. This can be controlled. Also apply a lubricant to your abdomen every night from the third month on to delivery. Maternity supports may also help. One of the best lubricants is melted cocoa butter.

Overweight women who never have had a child often have stretch marks. Therefore when you are pregnant gain only what your doctor allows, not only for a safe delivery but because of appearance, too.

Figure. So far as a change in your figure, there should be none except a few stretched abdominal muscles which can be reconditioned as soon as your doctor says that you are ready.

Caribbean Cruise

Over two dozen individual tour plans covering periods of from seven to 23 days at every major vacation spot in the Caribbean area are outlined in detail in a recently published brochure produced by AVIANCA, Colombian National Airways and Pan American World Airways.

Aptly titled "The Complete Caribbean," the new brochure provides complete information, including individual and group rates from New York and Miami, descriptions of tour locations and accommodations, itineraries and activities and points of interest for vacations covering Jamaica, Puerto Rico, St. Thomas, St. Croix, the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Trinidad, Tobago, Barbados, Martinique, Caracas, Barranquilla, and Havana.

The brochure contains plans for tours of seven, eight, nine, 13, 14, 15, 16 and 23 days duration at one or all of these fabled Caribbean playlands at prices ranging from $183 for seven days in Puerto Rico to $845 for a 23-day all-Caribbean cruise.

Tourists coming to Tallahassee, Florida will find an extra added attraction on June 21, 22 and 23 when the V. F. W. sponsored National Marble Tournament convenes here.

Knuckle down will be the theme song when youngsters from all over the country—each representing his own state—competes for the coveted championship.

From Maine to California contestants will be attracted to the Capital City of Florida where they and their chaperons will be treated to some real southern hospitality—where the southland is at its best.

Aquatic champion Katherine Rawls, winner of 33 national titles, will join the staff of The Greenbrier in mid-June according to E. Truman Fieger, Vice President and general manager of the West Virginia resort.

During her years as medley titleholder, she held all world records for the various distances of that event. Miss Rawls has been named Woman Athlete of the year and was the only person ever to win a double place (diving as well as swimming) on an Olympic team.

As professional of the Greenbrier's new Outdoor Pool, scheduled to open this summer, Miss Rawls will give exhibitions in swimming and diving from time to time, as well as offer expert instruction to guests.

Art In Review

Ernst Barlach, whose sculpture and drawing exhibit is on view at the Borgegange Gallery, was one of the greatest German artists of this century.

There is something touching, noble and great in his heroic effort to find beyond and above the torn and tortured faces of men the meaning of the human comedy. His yearning for spiritual values and a purer, loftier life drew him toward the ascetic ways of the Middle Ages, where suffering had a mean-

Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

Movie Milestone

HOLLYWOOD!... June 9 — Among Hollywood's most colorful personalities, Director William Dieterle stands head and shoulders above the rest. For a quarter of a century, Dieterle has planted both feet firmly on Movieland's ground, while from his six-foot-four height, his eyes have sought the backward flight of Time into history. Many of these prolonged studied looks have resulted in biographical movie milestones. Flamboyant is the word for Dieterle. He wears a battered straw hat, yellow chamois gloves and a bright silk neckerchief while he is at work... But like many of the characters he has brought to life, out of the dry pages of history books and given celluloid immortality, there is always a method to his madness.

"For," says Dieterle, "there must be a little madness in every genius. There is so much in truth that is stranger than fiction, that we reject it when it is brought to our attention. It is just too hard to believe. That it really happened, isn't enough. Life is not a selective director. Life throws everything into the script. Sometimes the third act comes first, sometimes there is no climax at all and sometimes there are so many climaxes, we simply cannot accept them — unless of course, they are happening to us! To those among us whose lives are so full of climaxes, of grand opera, so to speak — there is always the touch of genius."

To prove his point, Dieterle has but to toss off a few anecdotes out of the lives of one of his real-life heroes. At the moment, he is deep in the unbelievable character of Composer Richard Wagner, whose life he has brought to the screen in a film called "Magic Fire."

"Wagner," says Dieterle, "lived as he wished to live. He threw caution and convention to the winds. He would sneer at our modern creative artists who are so often full of frustrations and complexes. They take medicines, nostrums, tranquilizing drugs to relax them. But they are destroying the very fire that makes them talented. Wagner would have said 'phooey!' if anybody had suggested he take a pill to calm his nerves! He believed — and I completely agree with him — that friction and a certain amount of tension are necessary to keep one's perceptions sharp. This is the responsibility of the artist. When he pulls himself into such a calm mood that his troubles and his problems become non-existent in his mind, he also dulls the edge of his genius. He becomes a kind of zombie. He denies himself the greatest thrill a creative artist can have. That is the thrill of bringing a fine painting, or a great musical composition or a classic piece of writing into being, out of his own perplexities. That's why geniuses were born!"

"Richard Wagner," says Dieterle, "lived most of his private life in a series of stormy battles against society. He loved many women, roistered a great deal, went into debt — but from out of it always came great music."

"We must not look harshly upon a man's actions," the director explains. ("A man must be judged in context with his time. Wagner lived in times that were violent. Someday they will judge us on our own terms too. I only hope that when they do, they will have some creative giants to talk about, as I have talked about Wagner.")

Some of the giants of history who have become living, vital personalities to millions of moviegoers for history, include Louis Pasteur, Emile Zola, Florence Nightingale and Maximilian Juarez.

"My hobby is mathematics," he told me. "I am patiently waiting for the day when the world is ready for a biographical film about one of civilization's greatest giants — Albert Einstein. Not yet, however... We are still too close, too much a part of his history ourselves — for a movie about him."

The moppets are having their day in Hollywood. Several youngsters, both boys and girls, are rapidly becoming child stars. Twelve-year old Donald MacDonald, a blond, blue-eyed lad, with ancestry that goes back to "the family MacDonald of the Blue Isles," is one of these. His forebears belonged to the illustrious Scottish line, which calls for all eldest sons to be named Donald.

So I will tell you a little about this latest of the MacDonald line. Donald and Reby MacDonald, the youngster's parents, were born in Victoria, British Columbia, and they came to California when Donald was two years old.

Donald's first movie role was with Greer Garson when he played one of "her 12 Men" for MGM. He was Burt Lancaster's son in "The Kentuckian," and Jimmy Stewart's son in the TV offering, "The Windmill." Soon he'll be seen as the little orphan in "Great Day in the Morning." His current assignment, as Clay Gipson, in the suspenseful western "The Brass Legion," which stars Hugh O'Brien.

Young Donald was advised to study dramatics to overcome shyness. This advice "to go test, young man," places the boy's physician in the Dr. Horace Greeley category for wise counseling. So his present film venture is another on the list of outstanding screen assignments he has won since he shed the mantle of bashfulness. Two of Donalds most promising moppet contemporaries are Tim Considine and Tim Hovey.

Playgrounds Will Open In W. Monroe For Summer

The summer playgrounds of the city of West Monroe will be thrown open on June 15, it was announced by Director Dan McClure. He stated that this week he will get plans formulated for the outdoor program and will be able to gauge how many will be in attendance on an average day.

While funds are limited, McClure stated that he anticipates a successful season. Softball, baseball, tennis, archery, ping pong, horseshoes, checkers and other games are to be available.

Mr. McClure stressed the point that the success of the season hinges on the efforts of parents and the feeling that their children support the playground by their constant attendance.

Mayors Proclaim 'Lawn Mowing Week' For Randy

Next week has been proclaimed "lawn-mowing week" in Monroe and West Monroe by mayors of the two cities.

Purpose of the proclamation is to urge citizens to allow members of the Delta Kappa Pi sorority to mow their lawns to help pay medical expenses for Randy Winfrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Winfrey, of West Monroe.

Two-year-old Randy is now hospitalized in a Houston hospital for treatment of a cancer, believed to be incurable.

The girls of the high school sorority will mow the lawn for anyone who requests it by calling telephone 2-6690.

All proceeds derived from "Lawn Mowing Week" by the girls, who conceived the idea, will go to the parents of Randy for medical bills.

Urania Church Is Setting For Couple's Vows

At three o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Baptist Church of Urania, Miss Jo Ann Haynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bunyon Henry Hayes of Urania, became the bride of Mr. Charles Curtis Wiggins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Wiggins of Tullis.

The Rev. B. G. Dyess of Alexandria officiated at the double ring ceremony. He was assisted by the Rev. O. M. Corley, pastor of the Urania Baptist Church.

Vows were exchanged before an arch garlanded with waxed magnolia leaves and blossoms, flanked by seven-branched floor candles holding tall white candles, with potted palms in the background.

Mrs. Claude Gibson of Tullis presented nuptial music at the organ and accompanied Mrs. Eric Brown of Tullis, who sang "O Promise Me."

Mrs. Leon Dearman, sister of the bride was the matron of honor. She wore a waltz-length dress of ice-blue tulle and lace over taffeta. Her half-hat was of white straw trimmed in rhinestones. She carried a white basket of pink and white daisies.

The candle lighters were Miss Shirley Bowen Wiggins and Miss Mamie Nugent. They wore identical ballerina length dresses of sky blue nylon net over taffeta fashioned with fitted bodices and bouffant skirts. Their picture hats were of white lace.

The flower girls wore floor length organza dresses over taffeta. They were Sharon Williams of Tullis in pink, Linda Wiggins of Jena in yellow, Marilyn Maxwell in white and Karen Maxwell in green, both from Lake Charles. They carried tiny pastel organza parasols filled with rose petals.

The ring bearer was Master Michael Dearman. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a gown of white imported chantilly lace and tulle. The fitted bodice of lace was buttoned down the back with self covered buttons. The long sleeves ended in petal points over the hands. The scalloped V neckline outlined with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Her full skirt of tulle over taffeta held a flounce of lace in waltz length.

Her finger tip veil of illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies tied with white satin streamers.

Mr. James D. Wiggins of Jena served his brother as best man. The ushers were Leon Dearman and Glen Maxwell brothers-in-law of the bride.

Mrs. Hayes chose for her daughter's wedding a blue shantung suit, navy blue hat, and white accessories complemented by a corsage of white carnations.

The groom's mother was wearing a navy linen and lace suit, yellow hat and white accessories. Her corsage was also of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors, where pink and blue hydrangeas were used. The bride's table was overlaid with a white linen and nylon cloth and centered by the bride's bouquet. The wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom and embossed in pink rose buds and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Glenn Maxwell of Lake Charles, sister of the bride, served the cake, while Mrs. Dewey Mosley served punch from a crystal bowl.

The register was presided over by Mrs. Marvin Babcock of Tullis.

When the couple left for their wedding trip to Florida, the bride was wearing a linen suit of brown and toast, white hat and accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Wiggins attended North Western State College and Collegiate School of Nursing at the Baptist Hospital in Alexandria. They will reside in Jena.

Gril Scouts News

More investitures or fly-ups, as we call them when the girls have been Brownies. The 28 girls of Troop 24, Plum Street School, showed in their program what they had learned about the Girl Scout organization, the Laws and Promise, and the World Association. One of their leaders, Mrs. Charles McBride, had made replicas of the Girl Scout trefoil and of the World Trefoil.

Mrs. Edmond Middleton and Mrs. McBride, leaders invested the following girls, who are now full-fledged Intermediate Scouts: Patricia Ann Ayers, Billie Marie Again, Cheryl Ann Banlow, Susan Benton, Verona Blackwell, Linda Brandin, Sarah Cawsey, Patsy Ann Coker, Carolyn Cournet, Reata Gay Davidson, Margaret Ann Flenniken, Robbie Hicks, Pat Hogan, Polly Johnson, Carolyn Latham, Jeanette Limer, Sandra Doyle Lattick, Glenda Madden, Diantha Joan McBride, Rebecca Middleton, Juanita Nugent, Patsy Lynn Powell, Gloria Jean Stone, Barbara Suoni, Michelle Varnado, Lynda Walker, Phyllis Williams and Mary Phillips.

Troop 40 held its investiture at Forsythe Park, where they held a candlelight service based on the Laws and Promises. They had a decorated cake on which they placed the candles. Mrs. Darrell Brishin invested the following girls: Linda Atkinson, Pamela Baker, Anne Breard, Laura Lee Brishin, Mary Anna Crump, Jennifer Epstein, Laura Griffith, Corliss Kirby, Lorna Lee Thornton, Mary Vail, Sandra Booth, and Sandra Wright.

Afterward the girls enjoyed supper in the park. Troop 40 is made up of fourth grade girls at Lexington School.

Troop 28, also of Lexington School, held its investiture on the lawn at the home of their leader, Mrs. Louis Masur, Jr. Mrs. Sackman Marx, former leader of the troop, now a troop committee member, conducted the investiture for the following girls: Arden Anders, Barbara Buckner, Gwen

Parish High School Board Meets Tuesday

The Ouachita parish school board will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. at which time the teacher-principal list for the schools for the coming fall will be approved.

Assistant Principal Milton Hall, states that at the meeting it is probable that acting principals for Crosley and Ransom Elementary schools will be named. Luke Oxford, Crosley principal, has been given a year's leave and Clifford Roberts, principal at Ransom, has been accorded a half year's leave. Both will study for higher degrees.

Eckholm, Sally Farr, Jan Grambling, Sandra Heller, Lynn Masur, Jill Marx, Sally Portman, Jan Touchstone, and Mary Till Wright.

Afterward the girls enjoyed a hamburger supper and games in the yard. The troop gave a sum of money to be used for nature books for day camp and year-round use.

Troops 6 and 5, fourth and third grade troops at Lida Benton School, have given a water cooler for day camp. It is going to take a lot of equipment to set up the additional units that will be needed for this summer's camp, and certainly a water cooler is a necessity for each unit.

Don't forget that Friday afternoon is the time to register for cooking classes for next year's fifth and sixth grade girls. Mother must go out to United Gas Service Center between 2:30 and 4:00 to register her Girl Scout daughter. There won't be any vacancies by 4:00 o'clock, we're sure, so don't be late. Classes do not start until June 25th, remember.

Swimming classes have gone on for a week now with 204 girls enrolled.

BETTY RATCLIFF

Newellton Young Woman Will Get Washington Trip

Miss Betty Ratcliff, of Newellton, Texas parish, is one of the four outstanding 4-H Club Junior Leaders of Louisiana who will be honored in Shreveport Monday, at a luncheon given by United Gas. The other three are Jimmie Ann Meaux of Creole, Cameron parish; Darby Miller, Church Point, Acadia parish; and Llewellyn Spillman, West Feliciana parish.

The four young people will leave Shreveport at 5 p.m. the same day for the National 4-H Club which begins the following Wednesday at Washington, D. C. They will represent Louisiana 4-H Club members at the national event.

These 4-H Club boys and girls were awarded the Washington trips on the basis of outstanding leadership records submitted in statewide competition. Winners were selected by officials of the Louisiana Agriculture extension service. The awards of the Washington trips are one phase of the Junior Leadership program, which is sponsored annually for 4-H club members by United Gas in cooperation with the Louisiana extension service.

At the Shreveport luncheon United Gas will present checks for $250, to each of the four delegates to cover all expenses of their trips to the nation's capital. In addition, they will receive framed certificates signifying their outstanding achievements in Junior Leadership activities. N. C. McGowan, president of United Gas Corporation, will make the awards. Extension service personnel from Baton Rouge who will attend the luncheon will be Lynn Pesson and Miss Claudine Box, assistant state club agents, who will accompany the young people to Washington. Other guests invited to the luncheon include the parents of the delegates and local parish representatives of the agriculture extension service, Louisiana State Fair Association, the Shreveport press, radio and TV stations and a number of United Gas officials.

Miss Ratcliff is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Ratcliff. She will graduate from Newellton High school next year, and has been in 4-H Club work for seven years. Her major projects include leadership, citizenship, health improvement, baking, home improvement, livestock, poultry, clothing and child care. She has won many top awards for her work and was recently a state winner in the health improvement contest.

Kiwanis Goes Over Top In 1955 Community Work

The Twin Cities with three active Kiwanis clubs, the Monroe, North Monroe and West Monroe groups are proud of the past year's achievements as reported from the International headquarters in Chicago. They show that Kiwanis in 1955 was even more alert than ever.

Last year, Kiwanians, who channel the greater part of their energy into eight community service fields, participated in activities ranging from the purchase of an artificial eye for an underprivileged child to attracting a new industry to a hard-up community. The eight fields are: Agriculture and conservation; public and business affairs; support of churches in spiritual aims; boys and girls work; Key clubs; Circle K clubs; underprivileged child and vocational guidance.

Though fund raising is a minor part of their operation, they collected $5,844,371.81 which they contributed to youth services of varied kinds. They raised $4,296,300.60 for hospitals and hospital facilities; they contributed $1,608,121.20 to needy churches, and distributed $243,046.97 to deserving students through scholarship loans.

Always interested in children, they provided treatment for 143,854 of them in dental clinics; they assisted 14,229 delinquents; and they gave clothing to 79,214 youngsters whose parents could not provide it for them. Kiwanis also sponsored 13,406 safety patrols; provided recreational facilities for 790,762 boys and girls; and sponsored 9,162 baseball teams last year. Under their vocational guidance program, they aided 485,136 youngsters in their search for proper occupations; they aided 35,614 more through "Work experience programs"; and they counseled 38,954 veterans.

Since Kiwanis has been active in agricultural affairs from the start, its members emphasize work with farmers. Last year, they entertained 310,053 farmers at joint city-country affairs. They helped farmers near their communities by securing 69,516 harvest hands for them; they conducted 4-H and FFA projects for 205,594 rural youngsters, and they planted 2,847,228 trees. Also last year, Kiwanis International acted as coordinating agency for Farm-City Week, an affair aimed at "bringing about better understanding between the rural and urban segments of society." More than 400 national groups participated in Farm-City Week, with 250,000 people actively engaged in local observances, and millions more participating in them, reading about them, or hearing and seeing them on radio and television.

In urban affairs, Kiwanians were equally active. They raised more than $18,000,000 for community chests and other worth-while drives. Two hundred forty thousand of them worked in "get-out-the-vote" drives (there will be more of them this year because most clubs have organized Ballot Battalions to "get out an informed vote" during primaries and general elections). They engaged in 8,912 different projects looking toward the betterment of schools, and teachers' salaries; and they secured a total of 11,736 new businesses and industries for their respective communities!
